BOMBS FALL TWELVE MILES FROM LONDON

FRENCH SHIP SUNK WITH LOSS OF 300 BY NAZI SPEED BOAT

Raids Come as Britain Claims Victory in First Major Phase of the Five-Weeks-Old Struggle Against Hitler's Conquest of England; Repeated Violent Attacks on "Blitzkrieg Bases" Across the Channel are Reported, at Same Time That the Nation Tightens Blockade on the Reich

VICKERS AIRCRAFT FACTORY AT WEYBRIDGE IS OBJECT OF DAMAGING ATTACK BY ENEMY

Nazi air bombs fell 12 miles from the outskirts of London today, the German high command reported, while in another daring operation a 50-mile-an-hour Nazi torpedo speedboat bounced 60 miles across the English Channel to sink a ship near Britain's great naval base at Portland.

Skittering over the rough channel waters too fast for the big long-range guns of the naval base to make it an effective target, the German sea raider got in its knockout blow on an 18,000-ton craft and darted home again.

The Nazi high command's report of this spectacular feat was quickly countered by Britain's first lord of the Admiralty, A. V. Alexander, who said the craft was the French ship Maknes, with nearly 1,300 French officers and men on board—en route home to German-occupied France.

"I have just heard the German high command admit responsibility for this sinking," Alexander told Commons.

About 1,000 men were saved. The high command said German planes bombed the big British Vickers aircraft factory at Weybridge, just 12 miles from London, where the famous Brooklands auto race-track is also located.

The raids came as Britain claimed victory today in the first major phase of the five-weeks-old struggle against Nazi conquest of England—by repeated violent attacks on German "blitzkrieg bases" across the channel—and at the same time tightened her blockade of the Reich.

With more than 1,000 mass air raids, a London spokesman said the British Royal Air Force now has "made it extremely difficult for Germany to organize massed attacks on this country from airbases in Holland, Belgium and France, or from bases the enemy hoped to establish in Norway."

The British report, taken at face value, might at least partially explain the mystery of Hitler's delay in launching his long-threatened blitzkrieg on Britain.

Another possible reason was advanced by the London Daily Telegraph. Quoting "the most reliable neutral sources," the news-

2,823 MISSING IN SINKING OF CUNARD LINER

London, July 25.—(P)—Authorized sources said today that 2,823 persons were missing in the sinking of the Cunard liner Lancasteria at anchor off St. Nazaire during the evacuation of British troops from France.

There were 2,477 known survivors of the 5,300 aboard. Others, however, may have saved themselves by swimming or wading ashore, and falling into German hands.

The 16,243-ton Lancasteria, struck by bombs from Nazi planes, took a heavy list which hampered the launching of lifeboats.

She capsized and sank within half an hour of the attack. The exact date was not given, but the evacuation was in mid-June.

A number of women and children refugees were among the 3,300 passengers. How many of these were lost is not known, nor was it known what percentage of the total they made up.

Most of the survivors were picked up by small craft which were carrying other troops from the docks to troopships in the harbor. One of the survivors said "perfect discipline" was maintained.

The big ship formerly was in the cruise service between New York and the West Indies.

Decoy Tricks of Invading Pilots to Lure Fighting Planes Into Position Described

London, July 25.—(P)—Nazi pilots often pretend to be hit in order to lure British fighting planes into a position where they can be pounced on by superior numbers, British planes reported today.

The German planes falling, faltering, emitting trails of smoke, seek to tempt the RAF pilots from the severe formations of modern air warfare, but with little suc-

TRIBUNAL TO TRY DALADIER WILL BE SET UP

Vichy, France, July 25.—(P)—A special tribunal will be set up to try former Premier Edouard Daladier and other former government leaders for responsibility for France's entry into the war and for her defeat, it was indicated today.

Establishment of the tribunal can be expected shortly, it was indicated, and some journalists may be tried along with the government leaders.

The press began a special "build up" for the trial today, just two days after arrival of Daladier, several of his former aides and members of parliament at Marseilles from French Morocco, whither they sailed just before signing of the French-German armistice.

These men now are confined to Marseille under orders of Marshal Philippe Petain's government. Newspapers became increasingly bitter against the former leaders.

An example is an article by the war-time commentator Charles Morice appearing in Le Petit Parisien today.

"The war could have been avoided," he wrote. "This is formally known today. The greatest responsibility falls on those who lost their sense of nationality to defend so-called ideological, philosophical and political principles."

These men knew France's aviation practically could have been saved, he said.

At Least 317 Deaths Attributed Directly or Indirectly to Protracted Heat Wave, With 166 Due to Prostration

RECORDS SHATTERED

The prolonged heat wave showed signs of cracking today as a mass of cool air advanced from the northwest.

Cooler air began moving eastward last night and forecasts said the air mass would overspread the upper Mississippi Valley and Great Lakes region by tomorrow night and should be felt all the way to the Atlantic seaboard by Saturday.

Thundershowers promised temporary relief today for most of the middlewest and much of the east.

Temperatures, however, remained abnormally high from the Rockies to the Atlantic.

At least 317 deaths were attributed directly or indirectly to the torrid spell, more than a week old in some sections. There were 116 heat fatalities and 201 drownings.

In addition more than a half dozen persons were killed by lightning.

Most of the heat deaths were recorded in the middle west. Illinois had 23, Minnesota 16, Michigan and Wisconsin 12 each, Ohio 10 and Pennsylvania 16.

Temperatures above 100 were common in the middlewest yesterday. The mercury climbed to the dizzy height of 116 degrees at Beolito, Kas., and Long Pine, Neb.

A 68-year-old man in July 24 was smothered in Denver when the temperature reached 99. Chicago's 101 was the highest in four years and a six year high of 105 was recorded in La Porte, Ind.

Lightning stunned 12 men at the Plattsburg (N.Y.) military camp and four boys at Detroit.

Temporary relief came to Pennsylvania last night with heavy rains in many sections which brought much-needed moisture to farm crops.

Violent electrical storms hit western Pennsylvania and lightning struck four suburban Pittsburgh homes.

Similar storms swept eastward, driving down temperatures which had ranged up into the 90's. In Allentown streets were flooded as nearly two inches of rain fell. At Palmerton, 20 miles north of Allentown, traffic was stalled on flooded main street for a half hour.

PLANE OUTPUT FOR BRITAIN TO BE SPEEDED UP

Washington, July 25.—(P)—Secretary Morgenthau said today the United States had pledged "every facility" to enable the British to buy 3,000 military airplanes a month in this country, in addition to huge orders previously placed.

Confirming an announcement in London by Lord Beaverbrook, the treasury head said that the new arrangement was in addition to all previous orders, and would require construction of new factories.

The British have promised to pay for the erection of the new factories as well as to buy their output, Morgenthau added.

The secretary asserted that the Treasury, War and Navy departments were in complete accord on the commitment, and that William S. Knudsen, production member of the Defense Commission, had agreed to undertake to work out the details.

He said the new factories involved in the program would give the British a "big boost."

ARGENTINE PRESENTS PROJECTS

Country That Has Been Big Question Mark of the Conference on Hemisphere Defense, Indicates Desire to Retain the Spirit of Inter-American Solidarity by Offering Proposals in Receptive Language

COVERS THREE MAIN PROBLEMS OF PARLEY

By J. C. STARK
Havana, July 25.—(P)—Argentina, the big question mark of the Pan American conference on hemisphere defense, indicated today a desire to retain the spirit of inter-American solidarity.

Leopoldo Melo, head of the Argentine delegation, said his country was ready to present four projects on the following subjects:

1. Foreign possessions.
2. Inter-American neutrality and security zone.
3. Protection of children.
4. Coordination of defense measures.

"The proposals, he said, are couched in language showing Argentine wishes to maintain the present status of a unified hemisphere."

A new United States proposal dealing with the menace of "Fifth Column" activities in the Americas was also discussed as the conference awaited the text of the Argentine project.

This proposal, a companion of an earlier proposal aimed at diplomatic and consular officials, was described as more sweeping in character and designed to form a solid American front against foreign attempts to subvert domestic activities.

Under the proposed resolution, the Americas would make suppression of such activities a common concern, warn each other of any foreign threats and consult fully on all measures.

Proposals adhering closely to United States objectives were before committees for study on the three main problems—European colonies in this hemisphere, suppression of "Fifth Column" activities, and relief for economic systems dislocated by the European war.

However, the Argentine delegation said today.

Under-Secretary of War Johnson Resigns

Washington, July 25.—(P)—The White House announced today the resignation of Louis Johnson as assistant secretary of war and the nomination of Robert Porter Patterson of New York, judge of the second United States Circuit Court of Appeals, as his successor.

Stephen Early, presidential secretary, told reporters that "since time immemorial" a cabinet officer has had the right to select his assistant secretary and that Henry L. Stimson, now secretary of war, had asked the chief executive to name Patterson.

Early said Johnson had resigned yesterday and flown to Bohemian Grove, near San Francisco.

FALLS 50 FEET INTO THE RIVER

Nine-Year-Old Foster Son Of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Whitton, 2015 Pennsylvania Avenue East, Believed to Have Drowned When He Topples From Top Girder of Structure; Experts Work in Vain Over Two Hours to Revive Him

SERVICES TO BE HELD SATURDAY AFTERNOON

Keith Whitton, 9 years old, foster son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Whitton, 2015 Pennsylvania avenue, east, lost his life in the Allegheny river at the Glade bridge about three o'clock yesterday afternoon when he fell from the top girder of the structure to the water below, a distance of about fifty feet.

According to those who were swimming in the vicinity and standing on the bridge, the child with others had climbed to the top of the upper girder some time before the accident.

The foster father stated that the lad could not swim but played about the bridge with other boys of his age.

No person could be found who saw the Whitton boy fall. First intimation that an accident had occurred was when Ronald Roth, 15, of 26 Plum street, discovered the body on the bottom of the river under the bridge.

DOUBLE KILLING STILL UNSOLVED

Pittsburgh, July 25.—(P)—Detectives said today that the killer of a Pittsburgh divorcee and her escort night, who have been sitting in the back seat of their parked automobile when he opened fire, Supporting this theory, he said, was the fact that John Edgar Ewing, 63, was shot in the back of the head apparently while sitting at the wheel of the machine. Blonde Carrie Kolb, 49, appeared to have been fleeing out the right door of the car when slain early yesterday.

Detective Inspector Walter Monaghan thought the divorcee might have had a date to meet her slayer at the isolated scene and may have taken Ewing along for protection. Ewing had roomed at the Kolb home for years.

Working on the theory that the crime was committed by a jealous suitor of the woman, Monaghan is questioning a 58-year-old widower whom he said was "very close" to the victim and lived only a block from the death scene.

The suspect denied complicity in the crime, but was held because he "acted suspiciously," police said.

Police combed the underbrush around Ewing's car, but were unable to find the murder weapon.

REED REFUTES CLAIM MADE BY ROOSEVELT

Kansas City, July 25.—(P)—James A. Reed, replying to President Roosevelt's charge that he had forsaken the Democratic party in 1936 and 1932 and probably in 1928, produced a letter today addressed "My Dear Friend Jim" in which Roosevelt thanked him for his aid in the 1932 campaign.

The Democratic former senator from Missouri said in a statement that if President Roosevelt "has forgotten all my efforts for him in 1932 then his recollections must be as poor as his judgment."

During a press conference Tuesday Roosevelt said that Reed, who has offered to organize independent Democrats opposed to a third term, was well qualified for the job because of previous experience in 1932 and 1936.

ROYAL FAMILY GIVEN HONORS

Washington, July 25.—(P)—Full official honors were ordered today for seven refugee members of the royal family of Luxembourg on their arrival at Annapolis aboard the cruiser Trenton.

Joseph E. Davies, former minister to the tiny duchy, was assigned to meet them, along with other representatives of the State and Navy departments.

A motor trip to Washington for luncheon with President Roosevelt was on the day's program for Prince Felix of Bourbon-Parma, and his six children before their departure for an indefinite stay at Davies' Long Island (N. Y.) home.

The prince is husband of Grand Duchess Charlotte, ruler of the state overrun by German troops at the start of the May invasion of the lowlands and France. The grand duchess remained in Europe when the prince sailed with their children for Lisbon on July 15.

The family has been preceded to North America by other European royalty, and still others made refugees by war have been planning to seek haven in this country.

Crown Princess Juliana of the Netherlands is in Canada, and former Empress Zita of Austria arrived last week in New York.

Nazi air bombs fell 12 miles from the outskirts of London today, the German high command reported, while in another daring operation a 50-mile-an-hour Nazi torpedo speedboat bounced 60 miles across the English Channel to sink a ship near Britain's great naval base at Portland.

Another possible reason was advanced by the London Daily Telegraph. Quoting "the most reliable neutral sources," the news-

2,823 MISSING IN SINKING OF CUNARD LINER

London, July 25.—(P)—Authorized sources said today that 2,823 persons were missing in the sinking of the Cunard liner Lancastria at anchor off St. Nazaire during the evacuation of British troops from France.

There were 2,477 known survivors of the 5,300 aboard.

Others, however, may have saved themselves by swimming or wading ashore, and falling into German hands.

The 16,243-ton Lancastria, struck by bombs from Nazi planes, took a heavy list which hampered the launching of lifeboats.

She capsized and sank within half an hour of the attack.

The exact date was not given, but the evacuation was in mid-June.

A number of women and children refugees were among the 5,300 passengers. How many of these were lost is not known, nor was it known what percentage of the total they made up.

Most of the survivors were picked up by small craft which were carrying other troops from the docks to troopships in the harbor. One of the survivors said "perfect discipline" was maintained.

RECORDS SHATTERED

Vichy, France, July 25.—(P)—A special tribunal will be set up to try former Premier Edouard Daladier and other former government leaders for responsibility for France's entry into the war and for her defeat, it was indicated today.

Anti-aircraft guns chattered again on the southeast coast and the sky was reported "alive with aircraft" as about 80 German raiders swarmed down to attack a merchant convoy in the English channel. British fighting planes quickly sent them fleeing.

The German High Command claimed the sinking of an 18,000-ton armed merchant ship by a torpedo-carrying motorboat near Portsmouth naval base and bombing of the British Vickers aircraft factory near London.

While fighting off the Nazi air raids, Britain took steps to plug a blockade leakage of oil shipments through Fascist Spain to Germany.

Hitler's need of oil and still more oil to fuel and lubricate his mechanized war machine was pointed out yesterday when the pro-Nazi Rumanian government seized the biggest British oil company in the Balkan Kingdom. The confiscated oil may now go to Germany.

Italians also began to feel the pinch of the British blockade as Mussolini's government decreed still another meatless day—making four vegetarian days a week—and ordered sharp rationing of bread in restaurants.

The British people's will to victory appeared in a stronger light than ever today when the $13,868,000,000 budget of Chancellor of the Exchequer Sir Kingsley Wood—based upon the heaviest taxation in British history—was condemned as "timid and inadequate."

With one accord, the London press clamored for "a real war budget," despite the fact that Britons are already paying a 42½ per cent income tax.

The question of oil for Germany shared interest with attacks on the "puny" budget.

The financial Times in London declared the British government "will want definite assurances from Spain that oil supplies do not go to Germany."

WILLKIE WORKS ON HIS SPEECH

BY WILLIAM B. ARDERY
Salt Lake City, July 25.—(P)—Wendell L. Willkie wound up a series of Utah appearances today with a statement that he had come here for votes and that he had enjoyed seeking them.

In response to a question, Willkie said that he liked to be with people. He saw thousands of them during his trip from his Colorado Springs, Colo., hotel to Cheyenne, Wyo., Salt Lake City and Ogden, Utah.

The Republican presidential nominee arranged to return to Colorado Springs late today and renew work there on his acceptance address to be delivered at Elwood, Ind., August 17.

Willkie, accompanied by Mrs. Willkie, drove last night to the Ogden rodeo. He received tumultuous cheers as he drove over the grounds before the performance started.

The candidate said he would "take a week off" next week to work privately on his acceptance address. He was expected to move to some mountain lodge near his Colorado Springs home.

At a press conference, the candidate said he was proud of the type of Democrats who were supporting him and added that President Roosevelt, by attacking his Democratic supporters, "is climbing down just slightly from his lofty pedestal."

Democratic leaders doubted it would result in any immediate disclosure of strategy to be followed in the campaign to install Mr. Roosevelt in the White House for a third term and Wallace in the vice presidency.

They suggested, however, Wallace probably would be assigned the heavy work of taking the campaign to the voters and speech-making tours.

Lightning stunned 12 men at the Plattsburg (N.Y.) military camp and four boys at Detroit.

Temporary relief came to Pennsylvania last night with heavy rains in many sections which brought much-needed moisture to farm crops. Violent electrical storms hit western Pennsylvania and Lightning struck four suburban Pittsburgh homes.

Similar storms swept eastward, driving down temperatures which had ranged up into the 90's. In Allentown streets were flooded as nearly two inches of rain fell. At Palmerton, 20 miles north of Allentown, traffic was stalled on flooded main street for a half hour.

Washington, July 25.—(P)—Full official honors were ordered today for seven refugee members of the royal family of Luxembourg on their arrival at Annapolis aboard the cruiser Trenton.

Joseph E. Davies, former minister to the tiny duchy, was assigned to meet them, along with other representatives of the State and Navy departments.

A motor trip to Washington for luncheon with President Roosevelt was on the day's program for Prince Felix of Bourbon-Parma, and his six children before their departure for an indefinite stay at Davies' Long Island (N. Y.) home.

The prince is husband of Grand Duchess Charlotte, ruler of the state overrun by German troops at the start of the May invasion of the lowlands and France. The grand duchess remained in Europe when the prince sailed with their children for Lisbon on July 15.

The family has been preceded to North America by other European royalty, and still others made refugees by war have been planning to seek haven in this country.

Crown Princess Juliana of the Netherlands is in Canada, and former Empress Zita of Austria arrived last week in New York.

First Conference of Campaign Tactics is Held by Roosevelt and Running Mate Today

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL
Washington, July 25.—(P)—The first conference on campaign tactics between President Roosevelt and his running mate, Secretary Henry A. Wallace, was scheduled today at the White House.

Democratic leaders doubted it would result in any immediate disclosure of strategy to be followed in the campaign to install Mr. Roosevelt in the White House for a third term and Wallace in the vice presidency.

They suggested, however, Wallace probably would be assigned the heavy work of taking the campaign to the voters and speech-making tours.

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL
Washington, July 25.—(P)—The president has indicated his contributions to the electioneering might be confined largely to press conferences and radio pronouncements, since he expects to devote much of his time to world problems and the defense program, and remain fairly close to the capital.

He followed that course during a three-day holiday at his Hyde Park (N. Y.) home. He held a final conference with William C. Bullitt, American ambassador to France, before his departure for Washington late yesterday.

One of the problems facing the president and Wallace was the selection of a campaign director.

ARGENTINE PRESENTS PROJECTS

Country That Has Been Big Question Mark of the Conference on Hemisphere Defense, Indicates Desire to Retain the Spirit of Inter-American Solidarity by Offering Proposals in Receptive Language

COVERS THREE MAIN PROBLEMS OF PARLEY

By J. C. STARK
Havana, July 25.—(P)—Argentina, the big question mark of the Pan American conference on hemisphere defense, indicated today a desire to retain the spirit of inter-American solidarity.

Leopoldo Wey, head of the Argentine delegation, said his country was ready to present four projects on the following subjects:

1. Foreign possessions.

2. Inter-American neutrality and security zone.

3. Protection of defense measures.

4. Coordination of defense measures.

The proposals, he said, are couched in language showing Argentine wishes to maintain the present status of a unified hemisphere.

A new United States proposal dealing with the menace of "Fifth Column" activities in the Americas was also disclosed as the conference awaited the text of the Argentine project.

This proposal, a companion of an earlier proposal aimed at diplomatic and consular officials, was described as more sweeping in character and designed to form a solid American front against foreign attempts to subvert domestic activities, foment disorder or set up a non-American system of government in any American area.

Under the proposed resolution, the Americas would make suppression of such activities a common concern, warn each other of any foreign threats and consult fully on all measures.

Proposals adhering closely to United States objectives were before committees for study on the three main problems—European colonies in this hemisphere, suppression of "Fifth Column" activities, and relief for economic systems dislocated by the European war.

However, the Argentine delegation (Turn to Page Thirteen)

LEAPS TO DEATH

Niagara Falls, N. Y., July 25.—(P)—A youth, identified by Police Lieutenant Timothy Toohay as Jackson Brown, 21, of Chicago, leaped to his death from a ninth floor hotel window early today, after leaving a note which, the officer said, confessed a long list of crimes reaching from Hollywood to New York.

Shortage of Food Creating Grave Situation in France; Has Economic Experts Worried

By CHARLES S. FOLTZ, JR., Associated Press Foreign Writer
Basel, Switzerland, July 25.—(P)—Rapid dwindling of food supplies in that part of France not under Nazi occupation has led even the censored press there to report "the fate of France for months to come is in the hands of the German armistice commission at Wiesbaden, not the government at Vichy."

But those same newspapers hold out hope the Germans soon will permit food supplies to move freely from the occupied to the refugee-swollen unoccupied zone.

Other sources, however, assert

Under-Secretary of War Johnson Resigns

Washington, July 25.—(P)—The White House announced today the resignation of Louis Johnson as assistant secretary of war and the nomination of Robert Porter Patterson of New York, judge of the second United States Circuit Court of Appeals, as his successor.

Stephen Early, presidential secretary, told reporters that "since time immemorial," a cabinet officer has had the right to select his assistant secretary and that Henry L. Stimson, now secretary of war, had asked the chief executive to name Patterson.

Early said Johnson had resigned yesterday and flown to Bohemian Grove, near San Francisco.

FALLS 50 FEET INTO THE RIVER

Nine-Year-Old Foster Son Of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Whitton, 2015 Pennsylvania Avenue East, Believed to Have Drowned When He Topples From Top Girder of Structure; Experts Work in Vain Over Two Hours to Revive Him

Keith Whitton, 9 years old, foster son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Whitton, 2015 Pennsylvania avenue, east, lost his life in the Allegheny river at the Glade bridge about three o'clock yesterday afternoon when he fell from the top girder of the structure to the water below, a distance of about fifty feet.

According to those who were swimming in the vicinity and standing on the bridge, the child with others had climbed to the top of the upper girder some time before the accident.

The foster father stated that the lad could not swim but played about the bridge with other boys of his age.

No person could be found who saw the Whitton boy fall. First intimation that an accident had occurred was when Ronald Roth, 15, of 36 Plum street, discovered the body on the bottom of the river under the bridge.

DOUBLE KILLING STILL UNSOLVED

Pittsburgh, July 25.—(P)—Detectives said today that the killer of a Pittsburgh divorcee and her escort might have been sitting in the back seat of their parking automobile when he opened fire.

Supporting this theory, he said, was the fact that John Edgar Ewing, 63, was shot in the back of the head apparently while sitting at the wheel of the machine.

Blonde Carrie Kolb, 49, appeared to have been fleeing out the right door of the car when slain early yesterday.

Detective Inspector Walter Monaghan thought the divorcee might have had a date to meet her slayer at the isolated scene and may have taken Ewing along for protection. Ewing had roomed at the Kolb home for years.

Working on the theory that the crime was committed by a jealous suitor of the woman, Monaghan is questioning a 58-year-old widow whom he said was "very close" to the victim and lived only a block from the death scene.

The suspect denied complicity in the crime, but was held because he "acted suspiciously," police said.

Police combed the underbrush around Ewing's car, but were unable to find the murder weapon.

REED REFUTES CLAIM MADE BY ROOSEVELT

Kansas City, July 25.—(P)—James A. Reed, replying to President Roosevelt's charge that he had forsaken the Democratic party in 1928, produced a letter today addressed "My Dear Friend Jim" in which Roosevelt thanked him for his aid in the 1932 campaign.

The Democratic former senator from Missouri said in a statement that if President Roosevelt "has forgotten all my efforts for him in 1932 then his recollections must be as poor as his judgment."

During a press conference Tuesday Roosevelt said that Reed, who has offered to organize independent Democrats opposed to a third term, was well qualified for the job because of previous experience in 1932 and 1936.

'Home Guard' May Be Organized to Protect The State if National Guard is Called Out

Pittsburgh, July 25.—(P)—State military officials studied today the possibility of organizing a "Home Guard" to take the place of the Pennsylvania National Guard, should the latter be mobilized in the fall under legislation pending in congress.

A 1937 statute authorizes the governor—in the event the state's 15,000 National Guardsmen are placed under federal control—to provide a land force "as strong as may be required" to fulfill the duties of the regular guard.

Brigadier General William R. Dunlap, commanding the 53rd Field Artillery Brigade of the Guard, said the home force would comprise men "well qualified" for the job of guarding the state, such as World War veterans and experienced officers and men who for physical or other reasons are no longer on active service in the National Guard.

Enlistment in the home force would be voluntary, he said, so as not to "deprive the state's vital industries of skilled workers."

The first problem, General Dunlap said, would be arming and clothing the force, as well as providing "shakedown" maneuvers to fit it for its job.

The state has on file at Harrisburg the names, periods and type of service and efficiency ratings of every war veteran and former enlisted man or officer of the National Guard who might be available for a reserve militia.

The War Department is considering plans to set up "home guards" throughout the nation if and when needed.

PLANE CRASHES

Two Ridgway men, William J. McNair, Jr., and Elwood Myers, who barely escaped death Tuesday morning when their airplane nose dived on the Henry Huber farm, five miles west of the Elk county seat, are reported improved at the Ridgway hospital. Myers suffered lacerations and a broken nose, while McNair, the pilot, sustained contusions of both legs and a severe head injury. The motor stalled when the plane was flying at a low altitude.

APPEALS DISMISSAL

A clerk dismissed by the Mercer county board of public assistance declared at a hearing that he signed a Communist party nomination petition to help a minority party get on the ballot. Challenging the board's right to discharge him for that reason, Andrew Rotunno, of Sharon, a registered Democrat, testified before a board of review appointed to hear his appeal. The board advised him to obtain counsel and file briefs.

QUINTS ON THE AIR

For the first time in more than three years, the Dionne quintuplets, now six years old, will be heard on a broadcast to the United States on Thursday night, August 1, on WJZ-NBC, according to an Associated Press dispatch from New York. Their physician, Dr. Allan Roy Dafeo, will participate. The program, also to be broadcast by the Canadian network, is one of a sponsored series stressing vacation travel across the border. The Misses Dionne will do their share from the Callander nursery. Their last broadcast was a birthday program May 28, 1937.

BACKACHE, LEG PAINS MAY BE DANGER SIGN

Of Tired Kidneys

If backache and leg pains are making you miserable, don't just complain and do nothing about them. Nature may be warning you that your kidneys need attention. The kidneys are the chief way of taking the excess acids and poisons waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day. If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start a griping backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with stinging and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out the poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.

LOCAL CHAMBER STILL HOPEFUL OF PLANT HERE

The possibility for a munitions plant of some kind for Warren is, according to H. W. Correll, secretary of the Warren Chamber of Commerce, still quite a live prospect.

By specific request of the department he was until now prevented from announcing that the information which he has furnished from time to time during the past year has been for the United States War Department and has been handled through an officer at Wilmington, Del., from which city the local secretary has just returned. "It is said," states the secretary, "that about twenty-five plants of various types and sizes are to be located; and I am very hopeful that one of them will be at Warren. Whether or not it will be, or when, I cannot say, but no effort will be spared by the directors of the Chamber to secure favorable consideration of the local site."

Correll also visited Washington where he had interviews with Attorney General Robert H. Jackson and Senator Joseph Guffey, both of whom have indicated that they will speak favorably and do anything consistent to aid Warren in obtaining a government plant. Senator Guffey asked many pertinent questions about the industries and possibilities of Warren and the surrounding area and professed considerable interest in plans recently announced at Harrisburg for the improvement and enlargement of the Warren airport as a feature of national defense. He asked for a resume of correspondence and interviews with the War Department representative and promised to immediately write to the responsible officer relative to the Warren project.

Senator James J. Davis and Congressman Benjamin Jarrett have been asked to promote the proposition, and the Pennsylvania Department of Commerce will take an active interest in aiding this community in securing anything that can suitably be located here. "Mr. Richard C. du Pont," states the local secretary, "has expressed friendly interest in Warren because of the community's prompt cooperation and financial support of the air-mail pick-up experiment; and he and his associates will do anything possible to aid the local Chamber. Inasmuch as the du Ponts are close to the War Department in many of its operations, it is possible that considerable may come from this source."

Former Pupils And Teachers To Hold Annual Gathering

The annual reunion of all former teachers and pupils of the Glendening and Friendship schools of Elk township, with their families, will be held Saturday, August 3, at Gardner's Hall at Lounsberry's Corners.

All attending are asked to bring dishes and silver, sandwiches sufficient for each party and one other article of food. Tables will be available so that groups may be arranged to suit the pleasure of the guests.

Special music or numbers suitable for the program will be appreciated by the committee, and it is hoped that all the old timers will put forth every effort to be present.

For the past several years, the gathering has been held in September on a date conflicting with the Lander fair and flower show, an event which attracted many of the reunion-goers. It was voted last year to make a change to an earlier date, which might prove more satisfactory and bring a larger delegation to the school reunion.

"I Was An Adventuress"
The stunning crystal chandeliers which decorate the swank Continental hotel dining room, in which glamorous Zorina dines with handsome Richard Greene in "I Was An Adventuress," now at the Columbia Theatre, cost more than the reproduction of the entire hotel.

In keeping with the splendor of the glamorous gowns and precious jewels worn by Zorina, who stars in the film by courtesy of Samuel Goldwyn, the chandeliers are among the most highly prized possessions of the 20th Century-Fox property department.

Weighing close to a half a ton apiece, the handsome light fixtures were among the last items imported by the studio from Czechoslovakia.

"Intermezzo"
Did you know that Ingrid Bergmann, the lovely Swedish star imported by David O. Selznick to play opposite Leslie Howard and Edna Best in "Intermezzo, a Love Story," the dramatic romance on view at the Columbia Theatre through United Artists release, baffled Hollywood when she arrived? The dusky blonde beauty had never before enjoyed the luxury of a stand-in and said it seemed rude to have a sign posted on her door, forbidding others to enter her dressing room. When one of the gowns designed for her was disapproved by studio stylists, the young star offered to fix it herself. So far as the records show, no Hollywood star ever before offered to alter a gown.

William McIndoe, 12, of Butler, was drowned yesterday when he went down while wading in Conoquenessing creek near Walter Mills.

MAULTRY MEETING

The Moultry Cemetery Association members will meet at Grand Valley on Saturday of this week to further improve the cemetery grounds. All interested are asked to turn out for this work meeting.

HAD PREMONITION

While arranging for the funeral of a sister a month ago, William Patterson, 74, an Erie stagehand, took time to make his own funeral arrangements. He died yesterday of a throat ailment.

NEW DRIVING COURSE

The Warren Safe Driving School will begin a new course next Monday, July 29. Those wishing to attend may register at the Warren County Motor Club, Exchange Hotel.

HEAT WAVE DIET

Fruits, vegetables and lean meats are a good diet for those who want to be comfortable during the heat wave, according to Dr. E. B. Forbes, nutrition expert of Pennsylvania State College. He also said fatty, starchy and sweet foods should be eaten sparingly.

PLANE CRASHES

Two Ridgway men, William J. McNair, Jr., and Elwood Myers, who barely escaped death Tuesday morning when their airplane nose dived on the Henry Huber farm, five miles west of the Elk county seat, are reported improved at the Ridgway hospital. Myers suffered lacerations and a broken nose, while McNair, the pilot, sustained contusions of both legs and a severe head injury. The motor stalled when the plane was flying at a low altitude.

APPEALS DISMISSAL

A clerk dismissed by the Mercer county board of public assistance declared at a hearing that he signed a Communist party nominating petition "to help a minority party get on the ballot." Challenging the board's right to discharge him for that reason, Andrew Rotunno, of Sharon, a registered Democrat, testified before a board of review appointed to hear his appeal. The board advised him to obtain counsel and file briefs.

QUINTS ON THE AIR

For the first time in more than three years, the Dionne quintuplets, now six years old, will be heard in a broadcast to the United States on Thursday night, August 1, on WJZ-NBC, according to an Associated Press dispatch from New York. Their physician, Dr. Allan Roy DeFoe, will participate. The program, also to be broadcast by the Canadian network, is one of a sponsored series stressing vacation travel across the border. The Misses Dionne will do their share from the Callander nursery. Their last broadcast was a birthday program May 28, 1937.

Of Tired Kidneys

If backache and leg pains are making you miserable, don't just complain and do nothing about them. Nature may be warning you that your kidneys need attention. The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day. If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.

LOCAL CHAMBER STILL HOPEFUL OF PLANT HERE

The possibility for a munitions plant of some kind for Warren is, according to H. W. Correll, secretary of the Warren Chamber of Commerce, still quite a live prospect.

By specific request of the department he was until now prevented from announcing that the information which he has furnished from time to time during the past year has been for the United States War Department and has been handled through an officer at Wilmington, Del., from which city the local secretary has just returned.

"It is said," states the secretary, "that about twenty-five plants of various types and sizes are to be located; and I am very hopeful that one of them will be at Warren. Whether or not it will be, or when, I cannot say; but no effort will be spared by the directors of the Chamber to secure favorable consideration of the local site."

Correll also visited Washington where he had interviews with Attorney General Robert H. Jackson and Senator Joseph Guffey, both of whom have indicated that they will speak favorably and do anything consistent to aid Warren in obtaining a government plant.

Senator Guffey asked many pertinent questions about the industries and possibilities of Warren and the surrounding area and professed considerable interest in plans recently announced at Harrisburg for the improvement and enlargement of the Warren airport as a feature of national defense. He asked for a resume of correspondence and interviews with the War Department representative and promised to immediately write to the responsible officer relative to the Warren project.

Senator James J. Davis and Congressman Benjamin Jarrett have been asked to promote the proposition, and the Pennsylvania Department of Commerce will take an active interest in aiding this community in securing anything that can suitably be located here. "Mr. Richard C. du Pont," states the local secretary, "has expressed friendly interest in Warren because of the community's prompt cooperation and financial support of the air-mail pick-up experiment; and he and his associates will do anything possible to aid the local Chamber. Inasmuch as the du Ponts are close to the War Department in many of its operations, it is possible that considerable may come from this source."

Former Pupils And Teachers To Hold Annual Gathering

The annual reunion of all former teachers and pupils of the Glendening and Friendship schools of Elk township, with their families, will be held Saturday, August 3, at Gardner's Hall at Lounsbury's Corners.

All attending are asked to bring dishes and silver, sandwiches sufficient for each party and one other article of food. Tables will be available so that groups may be arranged to suit the pleasure of the guests.

Special music or numbers suitable for the program will be appreciated by the committee, and it is hoped that all the old timers will put forth every effort to be present.

For the past several years, the gathering has been held in September, on a date conflicting with the Lander fair and flower show, an event which attracted many of the reunion-goers. It was voted last year to make a change to an earlier date, which might prove more satisfactory and bring a larger delegation to the school reunion.

Bette Davis and Charles Boyer in Rachel Field's Sensational Novel
"ALL THIS AND HEAVEN TOO"
At the Library Theatre Sunday, Monday, Tuesday

Bringing to life a set of characters who have already won the hearts of millions of readers, Bette Davis and Charles Boyer are co-starred for the first time in the Warner Bros. screen adaptation of Rachel Field's world-applauded novel, "All This and Heaven Too," which has its first local showing on Sunday, Monday and Tuesday at the Library Theatre.

Also featured in the cast are Jeffrey Lynn, Barbara O'Neil, Virginia Weidler, Henry Daniell, Walter Hampden, Harry Davenport, George Coulouris, Montagu Love, Janet Beecher, and many other notable players. Anatole Litvak directed.

"INTERMEZZO" PLAYS AT THE COLUMBIA TODAY

"I Was An Adventuress"
The stunning crystal chandeliers which decorate the swank Continental hotel dining room, in which glamorous Zorina dines with handsome Richard Greene in "I Was An Adventuress," now at the Columbia Theatre, cost more than the reproduction of the entire hotel.

In keeping with the splendor of the glamorous gowns and precious jewels worn by Zorina, who stars in the film by courtesy of Samuel Goldwyn, the chandeliers are among the most highly prized possessions of the 20th Century-Fox property department.

Weighing close to a half a ton apiece, the handsome light fixtures were among the last items imported by the studio from Czechoslovakia.

"Intermezzo"
Did you know that Ingrid Bergmann, the lovely Swedish star imported by David O. Selznick to play opposite Leslie Howard and Edna Best in "Intermezzo, a Love Story," the dramatic romance on view at the Columbia Theatre through United Artists release, baffled Hollywood when she arrived? The dusky blonde beauty had never before enjoyed the luxury of a stand-in and said it seemed rude to have a sign posted on her door, forbidding others to enter her dressing room. When one of the gowns designed for her was disapproved by studio stylists, the young star offered to fix it herself. So far as the records show, no Hollywood star ever before offered to alter a gown.

CUT THOSE WEEDS
Owners of vacant lots are warned by the local police department that the weeds must be cut immediately and the properties kept in condition or the borough will do the work at the expense of the property owner.

DIES IN OHIO
Mr. and Mrs. Harry Nelson, 603 Pennsylvania avenue, east, have been called to Stockport, O. where the latter's father, Milton C. Walter, passed away at 7:40 o'clock last evening. Funeral services will be held at 2:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon.

OPEN PAIR TOURNEY
Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Scilly, of Sheffield, placed first in the seven tables for open pair night at the Marconi Club last evening. Mrs. Givens McKillip, also of Sheffield, paired with Sylvester Mullen for second and Miss Barbara Dennison and Dominic Vetric were third.

ILL IN HOSPITAL
Friends of Mrs. Richard Dase, 206 Dartmouth street, will be sorry to know that she is very ill in the Warren General hospital and is not permitted callers for the present. Taken ill at her home last Saturday, Mrs. Dase was admitted to the hospital on Wednesday.

MONKEY-FACED OWL
A monkey-faced owl, which is about as rare as hen's teeth, is on display in a Titusville barber shop. Caught in the vicinity of Meadville, the bird was taken to Titusville by Game Protector George W. Keppeler. The owl is some three months old and as big as a half-grown chicken.

SHOULD GO EASY
Electrically charged fences to keep cattle inside the pasture should be turned to the least possible charge during wet weather to save "old bossy" from the "shock of her life," farmers were advised today. John E. Nicholas, professor of agricultural engineering at Pennsylvania State College, said trained animals are not likely to touch the wires, but in case they do, "they need not be frightened unnecessarily."

Ervin Thomas, 18, of R. D. 3, Warren, is in the Warren General Hospital with an injury to his left foot, sustained when a tree fell on it. He is employed by the Commercial Lumber Company. X-ray pictures were taken to determine whether or not the foot is broken. The accident occurred about 2:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

CATCH THIEVES
Chief of Police George Hahn was today informed by Sergeant Frank Milligan, of the state motor police, that the trio of car thieves who appropriated a Warren man's license plates here on July 9 is in the Mercer county jail charged with automobile larceny. The men, John Patterson, William Jabosky and John Lantz, took the plates off the car belonging to Robert Crossett, 510 Fourth avenue, and discarded the license on a stolen car they were driving. The men have also confessed breaking into a store near here on a about that date, but no such robbery was reported to state, county or borough officers. Anyone having information regarding the latter crime is requested to communicate with Chief Hahn, the state police or Sheriff Stuart at once.

Owners of vacant lots are warned by the local police department that the weeds must be cut immediately and the properties kept in condition or the borough will do the work at the expense of the property owner.

DIES IN OHIO
Mr. and Mrs. Harry Nelson, 603 Pennsylvania avenue, east, have been called to Stockport, O., where the latter's father, Milton C. Walter, passed away at 7:40 o'clock last evening. Funeral services will be held at 2:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon.

OPEN PAIR TOURNEY
Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Scilly, of Sheffield, placed first in the seven tables for open pair night at the Marconi Club last evening. Mrs. Girdon McKillip, also of Sheffield, paired with Sylvester Mullen for second and Miss Barbara Dennison and Dominic Vetric were third.

ILL IN HOSPITAL
Friends of Mrs. Richard Dase, 206 Dartmouth street, will be sorry to know that she is very ill in the Warren General Hospital and is not permitted callers for the present. Taken ill at her home last Saturday, Mrs. Dase was admitted to the hospital on Wednesday.

MONKEY-FACED OWL
A monkey-faced owl, which is about as rare as hen's teeth, is on display in a Titusville barber shop. Caught in the vicinity of Meadville, the bird was taken to Titusville by Game Protector George W. Keppler. The owl is some three months old and as big as a half-grown chicken.

SHOULD GO EASY
Electrically charged fences to keep cattle inside the pasture should be turned to the least possible charge during wet weather to save "old bossy" from the "shock of her life," farmers were advised today. John E. Nicholas, professor of agricultural engineering at Pennsylvania State College, said trained animals are not likely to touch the wires, but in case they do, "they need not be frightened unnecessarily."

SWIMMING'S TOLL

The sport of swimming has claimed another life in Warren county. True, the victim was not a bather, but he was attracted to the water by the excitement aroused by the presence of others.

Unless the experience this year is different than at all times in the past, a few more will lose their lives while around bathing spots before September's arrival puts an end to the aquatic sport.

And, as in all sports, so in swimming, there is danger. Those who want to take advantage of the opportunity to enjoy the healthful exercise should take care that they do not violate any of the rules which may cause disaster. For instance, it seems timely to remind that one should not swim after a heavy meal or while too tired to enjoy the sport. There are other valid perils connected with swimming which it would be well to heed.

In the case of Wednesday's tragedy the victim was not swimming or bathing at the time. It appears that he lost his life because of the fact that the river at the Glade bridge has become this year, as in past summers, a popular "swimming hole." People who reside in the vicinity as well as others employed in the nearby plants and motorists who drive by regularly, have been predicting such an accident.

Despite the fact that there is a footwalk on the north side of the bridge, young people have been congregating lately along the south guard rail afternoons and evenings watching the bathers in the water, and many narrow escapes are said to have occurred.

A similar situation exists at the Hickory street bridge where youngsters have been observed hanging over the south railing watching canoeists on the water below.

Warning at this time comes too late to save the life of the boy who was taken from the river yesterday, but the tragedy should serve as a lesson to others. Youngsters should be cautioned against going to such places for their enjoyment. The borough has provided facilities at four playgrounds where play is properly supervised, chiefly to keep children from such dangerous spots as the Glade bridge, the Hickory street bridge, and the other structures crossing the creek and river.

VALUABLE FUEL SUPPLY

The confiscation of Astra-Romana, one of the two largest oil companies in Rumania, as announced in Wednesday's dispatches, is the latest in a series of actions by the Rumanian government dictated by the struggle of Europe's warring powers for control of her petroleum production.

The largest oil companies in Rumania are the Astra-Romana and the Steaua Romana, controlled by the Royal Dutch Shell, and the Romano Americana, controlled by the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey.

There are forty smaller companies involving French, British and Rumanian capital.

Rumania is one of Germany's principal sources of fuel to drive her planes and war machines. And British and French interests controlled about fifty per cent of the Rumanian output. Other foreign companies, including American, controlled a large proportion of the remainder.

Local citizens demonstrated again last evening that this community still enjoys an old-fashioned lawn social and concert. It was an exceptional treat for music lovers to be privileged to listen to the excellent program played by the V. F. W. band while indulging in refreshing ice cream and cake in such an ideal setting as was offered at the new Municipal building.

Young bicycle riders in Warren are becoming far too careless for their own safety. Little more regard for traffic lights may save pain and sorrow later.

Warren and vicinity is well represented at the Marienville festival this week, and reports are that a most enjoyable program is being presented.

It being summertime, and hot, we find the Youth Movement extremely inactive, especially when it comes to having the lawn mowed.

YOUR NATION'S CAPITOL

By Bruce Catton

The Times-Mirror Washington Correspondent

Washington, July 25.—Contrary to what you've been hearing, the U. S. Army is not having a lot of trouble getting a big batch of recruits.

Enlistments right now are coming in at 6000 a week, and are expected to reach a total enlisted strength of 280,000 by the end of August is approximately two weeks ahead of schedule. Rate of recruitments has been increasing steadily for the past two or three months.

As soon as it reaches the 280,000 level, the army has to begin a new campaign, taking on 95,000 more men so as to reach the authorized maximum of 375,000. Schedule calls for completion of this job by the end of the year, and present indications are that goal will be reached.

Reports about the lag seem to have originated in the second corps area, centering around New York City. It's true that few (comparatively) are signing up there, but that's nothing new; for some reason New York never has been a good hunting ground.

Best places to get recruits are the third corps area, comprising Maryland, Virginia, Pennsylvania and the District of Columbia; the fourth, which takes in the Carolinas, Georgia, Florida, Alabama and Tennessee; the fifth, which includes Ohio, West Virginia, Indiana and Kentucky, and the eighth, which is made up of Texas, Oklahoma, Colorado, New Mexico and Arizona. These areas now than make up for New York. Some army officers have complained that the CCC camps offer too much competition, in that they take young men from the same general age levels, offer them $16 monthly enrollments (which can be broken off whenever the enrollee lands a job) and pay them $30 a month as compared with the army's $21. The recruiting branch denies this competition hurts; besides, it contacts the CCC lads when their terms are about to expire, and signs up a lot of them anyhow.

Some of the army's recruiters are getting to be good salesmen. Classic story just relayed here, has to do with a recruiting sergeant in Kentucky. Salesman for a correspondence school dropped in on him to try to sell him a course in advertising, figuring that would come in handy in connection with the enlistment drive. The salesman did his stuff, and then the sergeant did his. Result: salesman joined the army.

Only real trouble is that the average civilian doesn't think the army has much glamor. Movie companies are helping remedy this by making plenty of newsreel shorts; also, in recent weeks the mechanized outfits seem to have taken on an air of romance, and recruits for that branch aren't hard to get. But the navy still has the edge in the matter of popular appeal.

One thing is certain: the average rookie is a different sort of specimen these days than a generation ago. Recruiting officials here recently picked up several

Interesting Items Taken From the Warren Evening Times

In 1920

The Butter-Krusts, of this city, playing with its original team of unpaid and strictly amateur players, Sunday afternoon threw a surprise into the baseball world and put Warren on the map, by defeating the fast Old City nine, made up of players from big league teams. The score was 7 to 6.

The Curtis aeroplane which has been flying in Warren for several days was considerably damaged during the storm Friday night at the old golf grounds east of town. A gust of wind tore the machine from its moorings and heaved it against a fence.

An attempt is to be made Wednesday night of this week to revive the wrestling game in Warren, when Boilemaker White, who has many friends in this city, will go on the mat with Young Hackenschmidt, of New York.

The work of raising $14,256 to stage the Old Home Week celebration is well underway. A dozen teams started out in earnest this morning in a house to house canvass.

The annual meeting of the Lake Erie Trotting Association at the fair grounds in this city will start tomorrow. There are 175 horses at the grounds.

Temperatures of ninety-five and above were registered in Warren today.

In 1930

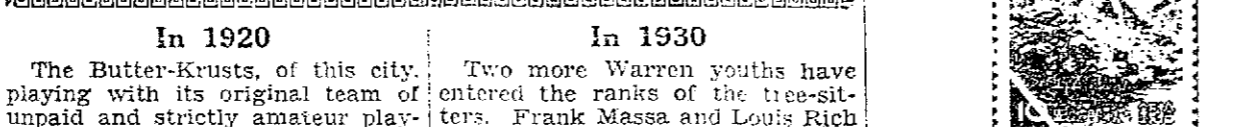

Two more Warren youths have entered the ranks of the tree-sitters. Frank Massa and Louis Rich last evening ascended a tree near the Cosmano fruit store on Pennsylvania avenue, near Carver street, and intend to stay there until school starts. Large numbers were on hand today to get a glimpse of the endurance sitters.

The second hole-in-one to be registered at the Conewago Valley Country Club course in two weeks was scored Thursday by DeVere Kirberger on the No. 3 hole. Kirberger is the fourth member of the club to join the exclusive circle of those who have recorded aces. Others are "Hunk" Fisher, Wilson "Bill" Creal and W. T. Kelly.

Five manufacturing concerns in the borough have made arrangements to have signs painted on roofs, identifying the beam for the benefit of aviators. Signs will be on the United Refinery, Hammond Iron Works, Conewago Refinery, DeLuxe Metal Works and the Struthers-Wells Company.

The first tie game of the Sunset League this season resulted last night from the game between the Texas Lunch and Barrette Cleaners, when darkness ended the tilt at the end of the fifth inning, with the score at 6-6.

Japan's Park Series Shows Home of Ainus

JAPAN continues the extensive national park series with a new group of four stamps picturing the Great Snow Mountains of Hokkaido, in northern Japan. This is the fourth of 11 sets of four stamps each, in the promised series publicizing Japanese scenic beauties.

Hokkaido is the home of the Ainus, a race of Japanese aborigines, closely resembling the American Indian, and showing few characteristics of Japanese. Modern Ainus have intermarried with Japanese and the race is dying out.

A Washington Daybook

By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON—Add now-it-can-be-told stories on the Chicago convention:

The number of times the Roosevelt boom failed to spark in those first few days of the convention was something that will haunt his managers in their nightmares for years to come—but it shouldn't.

Let's start off with this: at the outset, the third-term leaders claimed 900 delegates. The only question was when and how to start the stampede to give it all the necessary fire and drama.

The first big demonstration planned was when Mayor Edward J. Kelly of Chicago made his address. The mayor got in his build-up for a big demonstration and what happened? Nothing.

Why? Because all those hundreds who were supposed to be in the galleries to start the tornado of cheers hadn't been able to get tickets. The tickets were in the hands of the national committee, which was spelled James A. Farley. And, as Farley said over and over again, he was not going to permit any third-term stampede.

'Dear Alben' On Spot

THE second day missed fire that Tuesday night when Senator "Dear Alben" Barkley passed along the President's pronouncement. The demonstration was terrific. A few of the most ardent supporters felt the time was ripe for suspending the rules, nominating Roosevelt 48 hours ahead of schedule. Florida's Senator Pepper was going to offer the resolution. And this time it was "Dear Alben" himself who put a stop to it.

Why? Because, anti-third-termers pulled a fast one. Warned of what was happening, they notified Barkley that if he entertained Senator Pepper's resolution, they would make a motion to adjourn. A motion to adjourn, under convention rules, has right of way, is not debatable, is subject to roll call. What would have happened? The demonstration would have gone dead.

SWIMMING'S TOLL

The sport of swimming has claimed another life in Warren county. True, the victim was not a bather, but he was attracted to the water by the excitement aroused by the presence of others.

Unless the experience this year is different than at all times in the past, a few more will lose their lives while around bathing spots before September's arrival puts an end to the aquatic sport.

And, as in all sports, so in swimming, there is danger. Those who want to take advantage of the opportunity to enjoy the healthful exercise should take care that they do not violate any of the rules which may cause disaster. For instance, it seems timely to remind that one should not swim after a heavy meal or while too tired to enjoy the sport. There are other valid perils connected with swimming which it would be well to heed.

In the case of Wednesday's tragedy the victim was not swimming or bathing at the time. It appears that he lost his life because of the fact that the river at the Glade bridge has become this year, as in past summers, a popular "swimming hole." People who reside in the vicinity as well as others employed in the nearby plants and motorists who drive by regularly, have been predicting such an accident.

Despite the fact that there is a footwalk on the north side of the bridge, young people have been congregating lately along the south guard rail afternoons and evenings watching the bathers in the water, and many narrow escapes are said to have occurred.

A similar situation exists at the Hickory street bridge where youngsters have been observed hanging over the south railing watching canoeists on the water below.

Warning at this time comes too late to save the life of the boy who was taken from the river yesterday, but the tragedy should serve as a lesson to others. Youngsters should be cautioned against going to such places for their enjoyment. The borough has provided facilities at four playgrounds where play is properly supervised, chiefly to keep children from such dangerous spots as the Glade bridge, the Hickory street bridge, and the other structures crossing the creek and river.

VALUABLE FUEL SUPPLY

The confiscation of Astra-Romana, one of the two largest oil companies in Rumania, as announced in Wednesday's dispatches, is the latest in a series of actions by the Rumanian government dictated by the struggle of Europe's warring powers for control of her petroleum production.

The largest oil companies in Rumania are the Astra-Romana and the Steaua Romana, controlled by the Royal Dutch Shell, and the Romano Americana, controlled by the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey.

There are forty smaller companies involving French, British and Rumanian capital.

Rumania is one of Germany's principal sources of fuel to drive her planes and war machines. And British and French interests controlled about fifty per cent of the Rumanian output. Other foreign companies, including American, controlled a large proportion of the remainder.

Local citizens demonstrated again last evening that this community still enjoys an old-fashioned lawn social and concert. It was an exceptional treat for music lovers to be privileged to listen to the excellent program played by the V. F. W. band while indulging in refreshing ice cream and cake in such an ideal setting as was offered at the new Municipal building.

Young bicycle riders in Warren are becoming far too careless for their own safety. Little more regard for traffic lights may save pain and sorrow later.

Warren and vicinity is well represented at the Marienville festival this week, and reports are that a most enjoyable program is being presented.

It being summertime, and hot, we find the Youth Movement extremely inactive, especially when it comes to having the lawn mowed.

hundred recruits' cards and fed them into one of those trick sorting machines, to see what the average recruit is like. Here's the picture:

He's 21, native-born, 5 feet 8½ inches tall and weighing 145 pounds. He wears 8-E shoes, a 7½ hat, has a 32-inch waist and can wear a regular 36 coat. He has blue eyes and light brown hair, has a high school education, has had some mechanical, clerical or occupational training—and comes from a rural district.

Some army officers have complained that the CCC camps offer too much competition, in that they take young men from the same general age levels, offer them six-month enrollments (which can be broken off whenever the enrollee lands a job) and pay them $30 a month as compared with the army's $21. The recruiting branch denies this competition hurts; besides, it contacts the CCC lads when their terms are about to expire, and signs up a lot of them anyhow.

Some of the army's recruiters are getting to be good salesmen. Classic story, just relayed here, has to do with a recruiting sergeant in Kentucky. Salesman for a correspondence school dropped in on him to try to sell him a course in advertising, figuring that would come in handy in connection with the enlistment drive. The salesman did his stuff, and then the sergeant did his. Result: salesman joined the army.

Only real trouble is that the average civilian doesn't think the army has much glamor. Movie companies are helping remedy this by making plenty of newsreel shorts; also, in recent weeks the mechanized outfits seem to have taken on an air of romance, and recruits for that branch aren't hard to get. But the navy still has the edge in the matter of popular appeal.

One thing is certain: the average rookie is a different sort of specimen these days than a generation ago. Recruiting officials here recently picked up several

WASHINGTON—Add now-it-can-be-told stories on the Chicago convention:

The number of times the Roosevelt boom failed to spark in those first few days of the convention was something that will haunt his managers in their nightmares for years to come—but it shouldn't.

Let's start off with this: at the outset, the third-term leaders claimed 900 delegates. The only question was when and how to start the stampede to give it all the necessary fire and drama.

The first big demonstration planned was when Mayor Edward J. Kelly of Chicago made his address. The mayor got in his build-up for a big demonstration and what happened? Nothing.

Why? Because all those hundreds who were supposed to be in the galleries to start the tornado of cheers hadn't been able to get tickets. The tickets were in the hands of the national committee, which was spelled James A. Farley. And, as Farley said over and over again, he was not going to permit any third-term stampede.

'Dear Alben' On Spot

THE second dud missed fire that Tuesday night when Senator "Dear Alben" Barkley passed along the President's pronouncement. The demonstration was terrific. A few of the most ardent supporters felt the time was ripe for suspending the rules, nominating Roosevelt 48 hours ahead of schedule, Florida's Senator Pepper was going to offer the resolution. And this time it was "Dear Alben" himself who put a stop to it.

A motion to adjourn, under convention rules, has right of way, is not debatable, is subject to roll call. What would have happened? The demonstration would have gone dead.

FDR Has Fun

IF Roosevelt hadn't been a President, he could have been an actor or a playwright. His sense of dramatic timing would have carried him to the top in the theater even faster than it put him on top in politics.

It was one of the boys who stayed behind in the capital who told me how FDR, that sultry Tuesday afternoon when the convention was floundering, had decided to let 'em have a shot in the arm, so to speak.

He greeted his press conference in shirt sleeves, cigarette holder pointing to the skies. Some one said "all in"—the signal for the press conference to start.

Before any of the eager scribes could get in a word, the President started reading that seven-page report of the activities of the national defense commission. He read slowly those seven closely packed pages. There wasn't a scribe who wasn't squirming with deferred anticipation.

Came the end. A question was asked and he let 'em have it. BANG! Two years or so of silence on the "THIRD TERM" through more than 200 press conferences was to be broken at last. Then came "Thank you, Mr. Roosevelt," which is the sign for the press conference to break up. It's a wonder somebody wasn't killed in that rush for telephones.

Those who could lag behind heard the President laughing uproariously, pounding the arm of his chair with his hand.

In theatrical circles, they would call him the greatest trouper ever to have lived at 1600 Pennsylvania avenue. And what performer could help being delighted when his performance came off like that?

Warren County to Have Two Draft Boards Under Selective Service Plan for State; In Erie District

Under Pennsylvania's plans for drafting its share of a national army when Governor James and congress give the signal, Warren county will have two selective service boards, members of which are already selected tentatively, according to an Associated Press dispatch from Harrisburg today.

While the names of those who will serve on the boards have not been announced, it is reported that they are ready to be submitted to the governor and the president for approval.

In addition to the selective service boards, Warren and Forest counties also will have a joint advisory board of attorneys to aid the selective service boards.

Warren county is in the Erie mobilization district, with Capt. Frank J. Graf, of Erie, as administrative officer, according to the plans revealed by Major General Edward Martin, commander of the Pennsylvania National Guard.

The "M-day" (mobilization) plans have been tucked away in the Department of Military Affairs since January 30, 1935, ready for use when needed, the dispatch states. They bore the signature of Frederick B. Kott, then adjutant general of Pennsylvania.

Key officers who will administer conscription in this state already have selected, tentatively, the citizens who would be asked to serve on the selective service boards.

without pay. The appointees require the governor's and the president's approval.

Each board will consist of three civilians, an examining physician and an attorney serving as appeal officer.

Existing election officials will handle the registration of all men within the age limits prescribed by congress, and submit the names to the selective service boards. Each of the latter will have jurisdiction over a geographical area containing a population of 25,000 to 30,000.

The boards—one or more for each county—will be grouped within seven mobilization districts, with headquarters at Philadelphia, Harrisburg, Scranton, Williamsport, Altoona, Pittsburgh and Erie. There will be a five-man board of appeals for each district.

There also will be 55 medical advisory boards to pass on borderline physical cases, and 58 advisory boards of lawyers to assist the selective service boards in "paper work" and legal matters.

A selective service executive, appointed by the governor, will have charge of the entire machinery.

In addition to Warren, counties in the Erie district and the number of boards for each are: Crawford, 3; Erie, 3; Mercer, 4; Venango, 3; Clarion, 2; Jefferson, 2, and Forest 1. Erie also will have six boards in the city.

Famous Circus Rider Coming

Amongst the colorful constellation of equestrian features coming to Warren, Monday, August 5, with the Hamid-Morton & Clyde Beatty Combined Circus will be Miss Boots Sallie, pictured above, who appears with a troupe of 40 talented riders from Hollywood in marvelous feats of equestrianism.

There will also be a variety of other displays, including three rings full of liberty horses, menage numbers, high schooled horses and troupes of bare-back riders, featuring the greatest contingent of all time—the Royal-Ladonia Family, featuring Toby Royal, the riding fool.

Many other circus features include the Flying Marvellos, European Monarchs of the air, The Justan-Marlow cavalcade of acrobats, Clyde and Harriett Beatty, with their wild animal displays, Walter Jenner and a troupe of educated seals, 30 tons of elephants, 50 funny clowns, Lee Powell, the original talking picture "Lone Ranger," who was recently featured in "Hi-Yo, Silver," and appears in person with his own congress of rough riders. An extra added feature will be Baron Nowak, the smallest man ever known in the world—who is 19 years old, weighs 17 pounds and stands but 23 inches tall.

Over 800 people, 400 wild and domestic animals and 400 arenic features will be seen in the gigantic show presented by the Warren County Shrine Club to aid the Zenn Zenn Hospital for Crippled Children.

The route mileage of Pan American Airways is now 63,305 miles as compared to 53,548 miles in 1938.

THE FIREWORKS SHOULD BEGIN TOMORROW. WHEN THIS REPAIR JOB IS DONE.

I STILL DON'T KNOW WHAT IT'S ALL ABOUT, BUT I'LL BE READY FOR HIM!

I KNOW I'M TAKING A BIG RISK, STICKING AROUND HERE... BUT THAT TIME-MACHINE IS MY ONLY HOPE OF RECOVERING THAT MAGIC BELT....

AND I'D SWEAR IT WAS BOOM I CAUGHT IN THE LAB LAST NIGHT, AND WHO BANGED ME ON THE HEAD!

YES, I'M SURE OF THAT, BUT UNTIL HE TIPS HIS HAND, WE'LL QUIETLY CARRY ON

Warren County to Have Two Draft Boards Under Selective Service Plan for State; In Erie District

Under Pennsylvania's plans for drafting its share of a national army when Governor James and congress give the signal, Warren county will have two selective service boards, members of which are already selected tentatively, according to an Associated Press dispatch from Harrisburg today.

While the names of those who will serve on the boards have not been announced, it is reported that they are ready to be submitted to the governor and the president for approval.

In addition to the selective service boards, Warren and Forest counties also will have a joint advisory board of attorneys to aid the selective service boards.

Warren county is in the Erie mobilization district, with Capt. Frank J. Graf, of Erie, as administrative officer, according to the plans revealed by Major General Edward Martin, commander of the Pennsylvania National Guard.

The "M-day" (mobilization) plans have been tucked away in the Department of Military Affairs since January 30, 1935, ready for use when needed, the dispatch states. They bore the signature of Frederick E. Kerr, then adjutant general of Pennsylvania.

Key officers who will administer conscription in this state already have been selected, tentatively, the citizens who would be asked to serve on the selective service boards, without pay. The appointees require the governor's and the president's approval.

Each board will consist of three civilians, an examining physician and an attorney serving as appeal officer.

Existing election officials will handle the registration of all men within the age limits prescribed by congress, and submit the names to the selective service boards. Each of the latter will have jurisdiction over a geographical area containing a population of 25,000 to 30,000.

The boards—one or more for each county—will be grouped within seven mobilization districts, with headquarters at Philadelphia, Harrisburg, Scranton, Williamsport, Altoona, Pittsburgh and Erie. There will be a five-man board of appeals for each district.

There also will be 55 medical advisory boards to pass on borderline physical cases, and 58 advisory boards of lawyers to assist the selective service boards in "paper work" and legal matters.

A selective service executive, appointed by the governor, will have charge of the entire machinery.

In addition to Warren, counties in the Erie district and the number of boards for each are: Crawford, 3; Erie, 3; Mercer, 4; Venango, 3; Clarion, 2; Jefferson, 2, and Forest 1. Erie also will have six boards in the city.

Britain's Civilians Get Set

CIVILIANS, members of the Local Defense Volunteers, are pretty martial-looking as they march through town. They will help repel Nazi attempts to land in rural sections.

Famous Circus Rider Coming

Amongst the colorful constellation of equestrian features coming to Warren, Monday, August 5, with the Hamid-Morton & Clyde Beatty Combined Circus will be Miss Boots Sallie, pictured above, who appears with a troupe of 40 talented riders from Hollywood in marvelous feats of equestrianism.

There will also be a variety of other displays, including three rings full of liberty horses, menage numbers, high schooled horses and troupes of bare-back riders, featuring the greatest contingent of all time—the Royal-Ladonia Family, featuring Toby Royal, the riding fool.

Many other circus features include the Flying Marvels, European Monarchs of the air, The Justan-Marlow cavalcade of acrobats, Clyde and Harriett Beatty, with their wild animal displays, Walter Jennier and a troupe of educated seals, 30 tons of elephants, 50 funny clowns, Lee Powell, the original talking picture "Lone Ranger," who was recently featured in "Hi-Yo, Silver," and appears in person with his own congress of rough riders. An extra added feature will be Baron Nowak, the smallest man ever known in the world—who is 19 years old, weighs 17 pounds and stands but 23 inches tall.

Over 800 people, 400 wild and domestic animals and 400 arctic features will be seen in the gigantic show presented by the Warren County Shrine Club to aid the Zern Zern Hospital for Crippled Children.

The route mileage of Pan American Airways is now 63,305 miles as compared to 53,548 miles in 1938.

Chautauqua County D. A. R. Project Is One of Interest to Many Local Readers

Members of the General Joseph Warren Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, and others interested in history of the revolution period, will be interested in the following excerpts from an article published in the Jamestown Morning Post.

Invitations have been issued to attend the dedication of a bronze tablet to mark the birthplace of Mrs. Mary Smith Lockwood, founder of the Daughters of the American Revolution, at Smith Mills, Hanover, on Saturday, July 27.

Mrs. Lockwood had a distinguished patriotic ancestry. She was the daughter of Henry Smith and Beulah Edgerton, and granddaughter of Silas Moton.

Intensely patriotic Mrs. Lockwood had long felt that not enough honor had been given the women of the Revolutionary period. An avid newspaper woman of Washington, D. C. she wrote an inspired story of her Revolutionary ancestors, Hannah Amett, and sent it to the Washington Post of July 13, 1890 with the challenge that the patriotic women of 1776 be given proper recognition.

This letter caused the founding of the Daughters of the American Revolution and on the anniversary of the discovery of America by Columbus, October 12, 1890, a group of women met at the home of Mrs. Lockwood at the "Strathmore Arms", Washington, D. C., and organized Mary Washington Chapter D. A. R. Eleven women joined at that time, but of the 318 charter members only 49 are living today. There are about 350,000 members at the present time.

Mrs. Lockwood was the first historian general, editor of the D. A. R. magazine vice president general and chaplain general. She was made honorary vice president and honorary chaplain general for life.

She was an own cousin of the late Mrs. Mason M. Skiff, whose daughters, the Misses Martha R. and Marion Skiff, make their home in Jamestown.

The marking of her birthplace is the "National Jubilee" project of the D. A. R. chapter of Chautauqua county.

Ka-Choo!! Hay Fever Season Soon With Us; Pollen Count Taken by Airplane at Kane, Pa.

Town Has Law Against Weeds

KANE, Pa. — Hay fever season is nothing to be sneezed at in Kane, where the Commonwealth and city organizations have banded together to make things comfortable for the sufferers from malady pollenitis.

For years medical authorities have recognized Kane as one of the few places in the United States which promise absolute relief from hay fever and asthma. A peculiar combination of altitude, surrounding forest lands and geographical position is given credit for the climate which enables the health seeker to breathe easier.

From Canadian Rockies

Prevailing winds from the northwest carry cooling breezes from the Canadian Plateau, on which Kane is situated 2,200 feet above sea level. Most of this distance is over the Great Lakes and the forests of northwestern Pennsylvania, with practically no fields from which ragweed, golden rod or other plants producing irritating pollens could pollute the air.

A daily pollen count taken last year by Dr. H. G. McGhee, McKean county health officer, showed no pollen in the air of Kane during most of the hay fever season, and only a trace on other days; with never enough to cause irritation. The count was taken by airplane at altitudes of 1,000 and 2,000 feet over the city, and at a special pollen-counting station in the heart of the business district.

Pollen Count Started

The daily count already has started this year, Dr. W. F. Lind making the observations with an apparatus attached to the wing of his monoplane.

Kane is one of the few communities in the nation which has a borough ordinance requiring property owners to cut ragweed. In addition merchants are required to hose their sidewalks with water, instead of the daily sweeping which raises clouds of dust, obnoxious to the hay fever sufferer.

Hollywood Sights & Sounds

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD — The camera has taken a sedative. It's calming down. It's shaking off the jitters. In fact, it's so calm that it's standing still—which is practically revolutionary. "Reactionary" would be a better word, for in standing still it is going back to the habit it formed of necessity in pioneer film times.

For, once upon a time, the moving picture camera never moved. It stood on a tripod and aimed its lenses in one direction, and the actors moved in front of it. If they moved too far, they were "out of the scene" and they had to move back to get in again.

Then the camera began pivoting on its tripod, began to look around from side to side. Then it limbered up some more and climbed on a truck, or "dolly." This permitted it to travel a little. To move up close to the actors and move away from them without "breaking" the scene or cutting.

After a while a "dolly" wasn't enough of a trick. The camera called for and got a crane. This allowed it not only to move forward and back, but to swoop down on or away from a close-up.

DIRECTORS, especially the imports from Europe, espoused the jittery camera and vied with each other in obtaining trick effects. The camera developed "monkey blood" and swung from ceilings, stood on its head, and climbed rafters. It went on a spree, and then talkies brought the morning after.

The jittery camera had to be enclosed in a "sweetbox" to dead-

en its operating sounds. Actors worked and perspired in tiny, stuffy sets, practically stood still directly under microphones so their voices could be recorded. This lasted nearly two years, until the engineers began to take the mystery out of sound and the talkies went outdoors again. It wasn't long before the microphone, as well as the camera, was traveling. Rouben Mamoulian had himself a dolly spree on his first picture, "Applause." He made that camera and mike wander down and up corridors and streets and rooms until the audience got fairly dizzy trying to keep up with it.

LATELY John Ford made a picture called "The Grapes of Wrath." His chief cameraman was Gregg Toland. Together they slipped the camera a powder; they made it stand still through most of the footage. More recently they made together a picture called "The Long Voyage Home." They doubled the powder. The picture has no "dolly" or crane shots. They "panned" only when strictly necessary. They let the characters do the moving while the camera stood still.

Toland says the method helps to keep audience attention on the story and characters and away from movie mechanics. It keeps the camera out of the scene, gives better "composition," eliminates softness and blurring, gives clear definition and character to actors' faces.

It also saves time, he says. And time saves money, and—for that reason if no other—the cameras of Hollywood may be expected to calm down even further in the near future.

BAND PROGRAM IS ENJOYED BY LARGE AUDIENCE

By far the largest and most appreciative audience of the present season heard the concert presented last evening by the Veterans of Foreign Wars band on the steps of the municipal building. Around 1,000 persons, it is estimated, were seated on the lawn or in parked cars, or stood nearby.

Edmund C. Snyder, tenor, of the first of the season's soloists, was warmly received by the audience, and responded with an encore. He may appear again on a later program.

During the late afternoon hours and the concert an ice cream social was conducted on the plaza in front of the First Evangelical church, for the benefit of the Red Cross War Relief fund. The affair, conducted by the Central W. C. T. U., raised a fair sum for the fund, and it is expected that a similar social will be conducted at the next concert. All the proceeds again going to the Red Cross.

Thanks for the success of the concert and benefit are due to the Central W. C. T. U., the First Evangelical church, for use of chairs and tables for the social and for seating the audience; Troop 7, Boy Scouts, sponsored by the First Evangelical church, for assistance with the social; and the borough council for use of the facilities of the municipal building.

HOLLYWOOD — The camera has taken a sedative. It's calming down. It's shaking off the jitters. In fact, it's so calm that it's standing still—which is practically revolutionary. "Reactionary" would be a better word, for in standing still it is going back to the habit it formed of necessity in pioneer film times.

For, once upon a time, the moving picture camera never moved. It stood on a tripod and aimed its lenses in one direction, and the actors moved in front of it. If they moved too far, they were "out of the scene" and they had to move back to get in again.

Then the camera began pivoting on its tripod, began to look around from side to side. Then it limbered up some more and climbed on a truck, or "dolly." This permitted it to travel a little, to move up close to the actors and move away from them without "breaking" the scene or cutting.

After a while a "dolly" wasn't enough of a trick. The camera called for and got a crane. This allowed it not only to move forward and back, but to swoop down on or away from a close-up.

DIRECTORS, especially the imports from Europe, espoused the jittery camera and vied with each other in obtaining trick effects. The camera developed "monkey blood" and swung from ceilings, stood on its head, and climbed ladders. It went on a spree, and then talkies brought the morning after.

The jittery camera had to be enclosed in a "sweatbox" to dead-

en its operating sounds. Actors worked and perspired in tiny, stuffy sets, practically stood still directly under microphones so their voices could be recorded. This lasted nearly two years, until the engineers began to take the mystery out of sound and learned to control it and the talkies went outdoors again. It wasn't long before the microphone, as well as the camera, was traveling. Rouben Mamoulian had himself a dolly spree on his first picture, "Applause." He made that camera and mike wander down and up corridors and streets and rooms until the audience got fairly dizzy trying to keep up with it.

LATELY John Ford made a picture called "The Grapes of Wrath." His chief cameraman was Gregg Toland. Together they slipped the camera a powder; they made it stand still through most of the footage. More recently they made together a picture called "The Long Voyage Home." They doubled the powder. The picture has no "dolly" or crane shots. They "panned" only when strictly necessary. They let the characters do the moving while the camera stood still.

Toland says the method helps to keep audience attention on the story and characters and away from movie mechanics. It keeps the camera out of the scene, gives better "composition," eliminates softness and blurring, gives clear definition and character to actors' faces.

It also saves time, he says. And time saves money, and— for that reason if no other—the cameras of Hollywood may be expected to calm down even further in the near future.

BAND PROGRAM IS ENJOYED BY LARGE AUDIENCE

By far the largest and most appreciative audience of the present season heard the concert presented last evening by the Veterans of Foreign Wars band on the steps of the municipal building. Around 1,000 persons, it is estimated, were seated on the lawn or in parked cars, or stood nearby.

Edmund C. Snyder, tenor, the first of the season's soloists, was warmly received by the audience, and responded with an encore. He may appear again on a later program.

During the late afternoon hours and the concert an ice cream social was conducted on the plaza in front of the First Evangelical church, for the benefit of the Red Cross War Relief fund. The affair, conducted by the Central W. C. T. U., raised a fair sum for the fund, and it is expected that a similar social will be conducted at the next concert, all the proceeds again going to the Red Cross.

Thanks for the success of the concert and benefit are due to the Central W. C. T. U., the First Evangelical church, for use of chairs and tables for the social and for seating the audience; Troop 7, Boy Scouts, sponsored by the First Evangelical church, for assistance with the social; and the borough council for use of the facilities of the municipal building.

No More Skimpy Little Meals Since She Took "Vendol"

Feels fine all the time; eats better, looks better, sleeps better since getting relief from constipation. Advises everyone take Vendol.

BUY A PINT-SAVE 50¢

"After reading my experience, I believe everyone who suffers as I used to will want to start taking Vendol without delay," declared Mrs. Frances M. Smith, a resident of 22 Plum street, Warren.

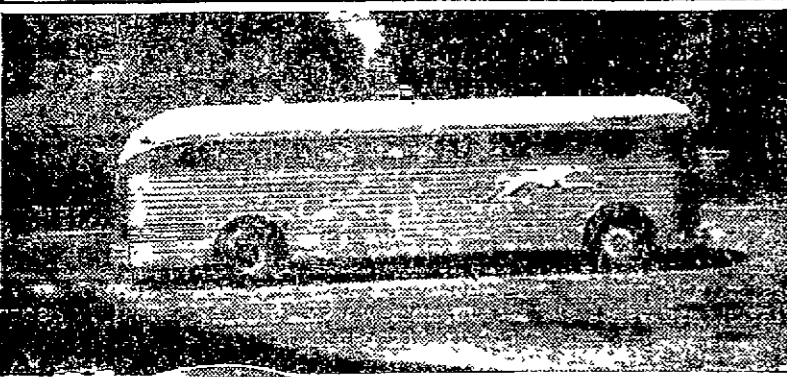

"Before discovering Vendol I hadn't been feeling so well for quite a while and it was all due to a bad case of constipation, which brought on many symptoms. My stomach was so sour and upset after meals that I wouldn't suffer from gas bloating, acid risings, palpitation and heartburn. So I started taking Vendol. I feel like a new person now. It's not surprising that I would get up many mornings feeling all worn out, with no energy to start the day.

"But it's quite different today. Since taking Vendol and the little Vendol laxative tablets the constipation was relieved and I'm getting the smoothest, easiest most complete evacuation I've known in a long time, and this has brought relief from the upset stomach trouble and now I don't limit myself to light, skimpy meals but eat everything that comes on the table, but I don't have the gas cramps or other troubles any more. What a pleasure that is! Is it any wonder that I recommend Vendol so highly?"

Start on Vendol today. See for yourself what grand relief it gives. Vendol is sold by most all leading druggists everywhere and is highly recommended here by Miller's Cut Rate Drug Store.

New Type Buses Introduced

A fleet of 350 buses, like the one pictured here, is being delivered at the present time. They will be placed on many bus schedules operating through this city by August 1st states Mr. L. H. Rietow, traffic manager of Greyhound Lines.

Each coach will be air conditioned, half of them powered by 2-cycle Diesel Motors, and with many improvements in the interior of the coach for the passenger's comfort. The new buses are finished in aluminum alloy and cost $20,000 each.

Casual Slaughterers

YESTERDAY, Sandra arrives at the Pennant's party elaborately costumed and with a black e.e. Everyone is shocked and calls Jeff the cold shoulder. Kay explains to Julia that Sandra has been sharing her room.

Chapter 30 The Next Victim

JULIA rushed to the edge of her sun-bleached hair and turned to busy herself at the mirror. But even under the layer of powder she was applying her cheeks were slow in cooling, and her hands trembled as she tried to shape her mouth with lipstick.

"That doesn't mean anything," she said at last in a strangled voice. "I don't pretend to know what's behind it, but you needn't be every thing she says. She's not afraid of him. She's not afraid of anything. She hasn't got sense enough to be—she thinks she's too good."

She paused smoothing her lips with her little finger, and I pondered that remark. It was odd that she should think that of Sandra, too. It agreed with a vague feeling I had formed.

"And I don't believe he'd ever lay a hand on her, no matter what she did to him," Julia went on. "She used to get into the most terrible rages at him when we were kids. I've seen her kick his shins and scratch and claw and bite. I used to think she was trying to get him to hit her so she could tell and see him punished. But he'd just shield his face with his arms, and when he got a chance he'd grab her wrists and hold her until she'd begin to cry and say he was hurting her. Oh, she was always a devil!"

We went back to the party after that, and Gerald and I rallied around Jeff. I don't know that I was entirely convinced of his innocence by Julia's eloquence, but I was willing to reserve judgment. And I particularly hate to see anyone boycotted at a party.

He was smoldering with impotent, miserable anger. Even Gerald could not draw him out of it, could not make him smile, or talk, but we did our poor best to seem to enjoy his company.

Sandra, on the other hand, enjoyed a great success. Understandably so. She was not only a bride; she was that rarer thing, a bride with a black eye. Perhaps the black eye did not contribute to her popularity, but it certainly brought her attention. She danced with the chaplain several times, and the delicious spectacle of a picturesque pair almost cleared the floor. Couples withdrew to the side lines, the better to observe or retired from the big living room to the safer obscurity of the hall or the library, there to let loose their laughter.

It was a strange, hysterical party, and Mimi gave the impression of mentally mopping her brow as I took my farewell of her well after midnight.

"The poor child," she said charitably of Sandra. "If she had told me I might have postponed the reception—though I think that would have been bad, too, don't you? After the hurried-up wedding and all. Perhaps she did the only thing she could. Certainly she carried it off very well. I'm afraid Jeff was the more upset—though I'm sure no one thought—that is, of course it must have been an accident. Sandra said so herself."

To increase the speed, planes are usually completely flushed, with all the rivet heads being covered with a filler.

No More Skimpy Little Meals Since She Took "Vendol"

Feels fine all the time; eats better, looks better, sleeps better since getting relief from constipation. Advises everyone take Vendol.

"After reading my experience, I believe everyone who suffers as I used to will want to start taking Vendol without delay," declared Mrs. Frances M. Smith, a resident of 22 Plum street, Warren.

"Before discovering Vendol, I hadn't been feeling so well for quite a while and it was all due to a bad case of constipation, which brought on many symptoms. My stomach was so sour and upset after meals that I wouldn't suffer from gas, bloating, acid risings, palpitation and 'heartburn'. Sometimes the gas cramps in my stomach cut like a knife, even getting me up during the night sometimes. It's not surprising that I would get up many mornings feeling all worn out, with no energy to start the day.

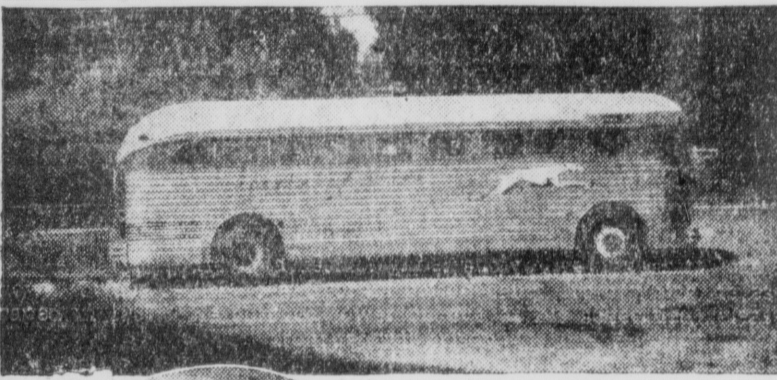

"But it's quite different today. Since taking Vendol and the little Vendol laxative tablets, the constipation was relieved and I'm getting the smoothest, easiest, most complete evacuation I've known in a long time, and this has brought relief from the upset stomach trouble and now I don't limit myself to light, skimpy meals, but eat everything that comes on the table, but I don't have the gas cramps or other troubles any more. What a pleasure that is! Is it any wonder that I recommend Vendol so highly?"

Start on Vendol today, see for yourself what grand relief it gives. Vendol is sold by most all leading druggists everywhere and is highly recommended here by Miller's Cut Rate Drug Store.

New Type Buses Introduced

A fleet of 350 buses, like the one pictured here, is being delivered at the present time. They will be placed on many bus schedules operating through this city by August 1st, states Mr. L. H. Ristow, traffic manager of Greyhound Lines.

Each coach will be air conditioned, half of them powered by 2-cycle Diesel Motors, and with many improvements in the interior of the coach for the passenger's comfort. The new buses are finished in aluminum alloy and cost $20,000 each.

Irvine

Irvine, July 23—Mrs. Harry Johnson entertained "The Ladies Union" on Thursday evening, July 18th and all present enjoyed a very pleasant social time and the refreshments served by the hostess, Miss Katherine Johnson of Warren was an out of town guest. On Thursday evening, Aug. 15th, Mrs. Roy Lightner will entertain.

"Christianity in American Youth" was the subject of a splendid discourse at the morning service in the Presbyterian church July 21st given by Dick Johnson who conducted the entire service in a very commendable manner. Two other youths, Willis and Virgil Munson furnished the music which added much to the service.

Harry M. Gillespie was an honored guest at a testimonial dinner held at Liberty Club in Erie at 7 p.

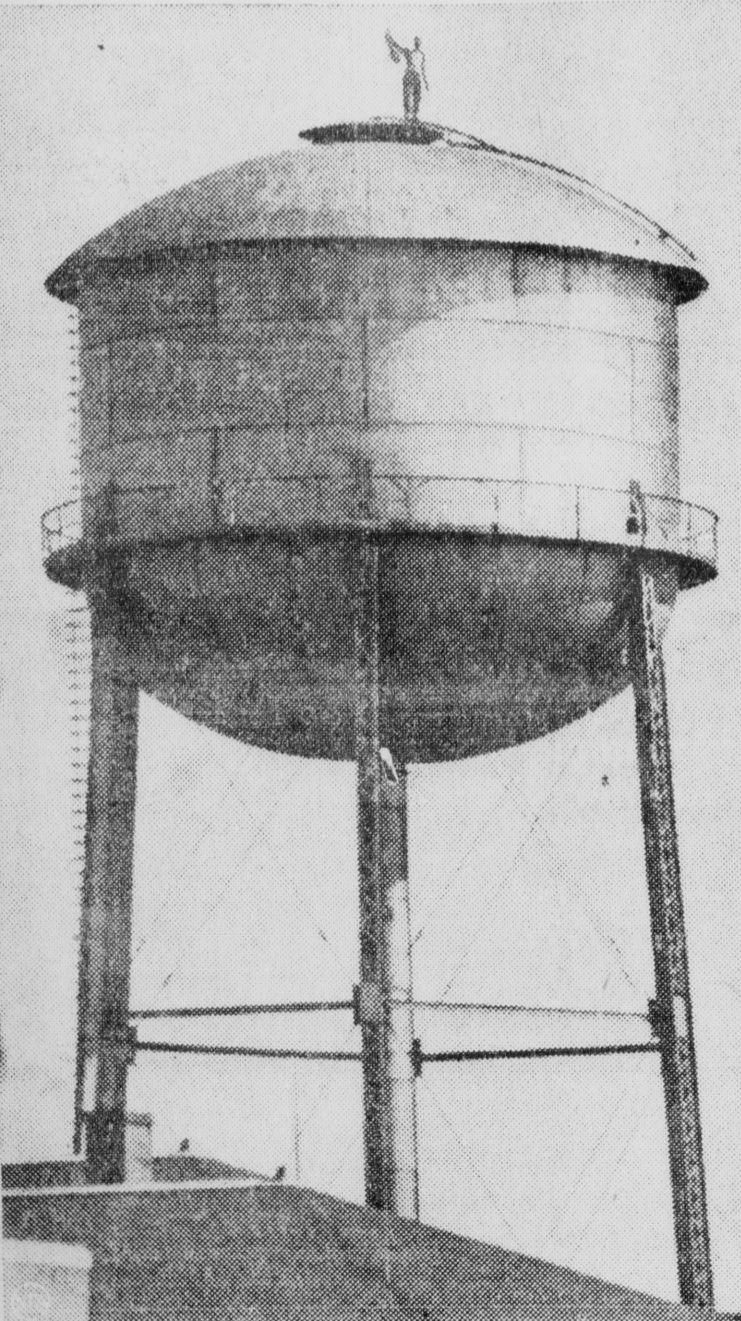

m., recently. This was a reception for the retired railroad employees of the Pennsylvania and New York Central railroads. Mr. Gillespie was a faithful and efficient employee of the Pennsylvania in the Warren yards for several years and for some years has been retired on pension.

Our town is very quiet this week only the travel and a force of men working on the grounds for the new school building, owing to the shop employees all having over a weeks vacation.

In the report of the June meeting of the Ladies' Union, entertained by Mrs. Clinton Johnson, out of town guests were Mrs. Edget, of Sherman, N. Y., and Mrs. Brazill, of Jamestown, instead of Mrs. Paul Brazill, as printed.

To increase the speed, planes are usually completely flushed, riveted, with all the rivet heads being covered with a filler.

Prefers U. S. Pen to Georgia Prison

LOCAL COMPANY TO ATTEND 1ST BAPTIST CHURCH

Members of Company I, local unit of the 112th Infantry, Pennsylvania National Guard, will attend a special service at the First Baptist Temple next Sunday evening at 7:30 o'clock. It was announced today by company officers.

Casual Slaughterers

YESTERDAY: Sandra arrives at the Pennant's party elaborate in costume and with a black eye. Everyone is shocked and gives Jeff the cold shoulder. Kay explains to Julia that Sandra has been sharing her room.

Chapter 30 The Next Victim

JULIA flushed to the edge of her sun-bleached hair and turned to busy herself at the mirror. But even under the layer of powder she was applying her cheeks were slow in cooling, and her hands trembled as she tried to shape her mouth with lipstick.

"That doesn't mean anything," she said at last in a strangled voice. "I don't pretend to know what's behind it, but you needn't believe everything she says. She's not afraid of him. She's not afraid of anything. She hasn't got sense enough to be—she thinks she's too good."

She paused, smoothing her lips with her little finger, and I pondered that remark. It was odd that she should think that of Sandra, too. It agreed with a vague feeling I had formed.

"And I don't believe he'd ever lay a hand on her, no matter what she did to him," Julia went on valiantly. "She used to get into the most terrible rages at him when we were kids. I've seen her kick his shins and scratch and claw and bite. I used to think she was trying to get him to hit her so she could tell and see him punished. But he'd just shield his face with his arms, and when he got a chance he'd grab her wrists and hold her until she'd begin to cry and say he was hurting her. Oh, she was always a devil!"

We went back to the party after that, and Gerald and I rallied around Jeff. I don't know that I was entirely convinced of his innocence by Julia's eloquence, but I was willing to reserve judgment. And I particularly hate to see anyone boycotted at a party.

He was smoldering with impotent, miserable anger. Even Gerald could not draw him out of it, could not make him smile, or talk. But we did our poor best to seem to enjoy his company.

Sandra, on the other hand, enjoyed a great success. Understandably so. She was not only a bride; she was that rarer thing, a bride with a black eye. Perhaps the black eye did not contribute to her popularity, but it certainly brought her attention. She danced with the chaplain several times, and the delicious spectacle of that picturesque pair almost cleared the floor. Couples withdrew to the side lines, the better to observe, or retired from the big living room to the safer obscurity of the hall or the library, there to let loose their laughter.

It was a strange, hysterical party, and Mimi gave the impression of mentally mopping her brow as I took my farewell of her well after midnight.

"The poor child," she said charitably of Sandra. "If she had told me I might have postponed the reception—though I think that would have been bad, too, don't you? After the hurried wedding and all. Perhaps she did the only thing she could. Certainly she carried it off very well. I'm afraid Jeff was the more upset—though I'm sure no one thought—that is, of course it must have been an accident. Sandra said so herself."

Beside her Colonel Pennant was ominously silent.

No Sound To Tell

I REJECTED Gerald's half-hearted offers of further amusement and undressed and fell into bed as soon as I reached my rooms. I was exhausted and must have gone right to sleep, for I did not hear Sandra come in; did not know, when something woke me a couple of hours later, whether she had come to bed at all.

I lay still in the cryptic darkness, wondering what had disturbed me, listening for Sandra's breathing in the other bed. For a moment I heard nothing, then I saw that there was a thread of dim light around the door into the sitting room; and presently I detected faint little sounds of someone moving about in there.

She was restless, I decided, and had gone in there to keep from waking me. I had left the door open when I went to bed, to encourage what little breeze there was that hot night. I toyed with the idea of getting up and opening it again, letting her know that I was awake. But to do so might dispel the lassitude that would let me drift back to sleep. And as I still looked at the door the rim of light around it vanished and there was silence. Had she gone back to Jeff, after all, or was she lying on the studio couch, in a darkless, peopled by unhappy thoughts?

There was no sound to tell me—no click of the door, no stirring of springs under a restless body. Perhaps she had gone to sleep. In the night and silence my own eyes closed and presently I ceased to think.

It was broad daylight when I had the answer to my question. I awoke late and dressed hurriedly to get to breakfast before the mess hall closed. I noticed, between brush strokes, that Sandra's bed had not been slept in, but I had no occasion to go into the sitting room until, dressed and ready for breakfast, I dashed through on my way to the corridor. I almost fell over her. She was lying on her face, nearly in front of the corridor door, as if she had pitched through it and someone had closed it behind her. Someone who had left her lying there in her blood-soaked white robe, the handle of a butcher knife vertical between her shoulder blades.

A horrible sound tore from my throat. I had to step over her to get to the door, to open it and totter out into the hall. Gerald was coming, running toward me on quick, light feet, his face white, his eyes hard. I managed to wait until he got to me, then I fainted apocryphally in his arms.

Under Arrest
JEFF was put under arrest that morning. Mimi had called me up to insist that I spend the rest of my visit under their roof, and when Julia came for me at eleven o'clock, she was white and wild eyed with news.

"Dad's orders," she said tragically as I got into the car. "And Kay, he really thinks Jeff did it!" "Does that mean he's been turned over to the civil authorities, or put in the guardhouse, or what?"

"Neither one. They don't put officers in the guardhouse, as a rule, and the civil authorities can't come on a post and arrest a member of the garrison. Dan could have put Jeff in arrest in quarters, which would simply have meant he was on his honor not to leave his room, but for some reason he's put him in the prison ward of the hospital, with a guard over him."

"He doesn't think Jeff is insane?" I asked startled. "I don't think so—"

"On what charge was he arrested?" "Murder, I suppose—or maybe he hasn't been charged yet; I wouldn't know about the red tape. But, Kay, he didn't do it! I know he didn't! I tell you I know Jeff. He's not cruel and mean; he's kind. He's got a conscience—too much conscience, I used to tell him. He takes everything terribly to heart. He couldn't murder anybody, even if they deserved it. He just couldn't!"

She was almost crying. "But Julia, your father must have reasons—and think how lucky Jeff is."

"Lucky?" "Yes, lucky. Suppose he was being bullied by a lot of hard-boiled policemen and a district attorney who were determined to get a confession. At least he's among friends. Your father is fond of him. He'll see that Jeff gets a square deal."

She turned her eyes from the road to give me a reproachful look. "You, too?" she accused. "You think he's guilty!"

"No, I don't know what the evidence is against him. I hardly know him; all I know is what you've told me. I hope he isn't guilty. But if he isn't, Julia—who is?"

"I don't know," she said slowly. "And I don't much care as long as Jeff isn't. I can't help it if that shocks you. You haven't seen, as I have, what she's done to Jeff. Even by dying she gets him into trouble. I wonder—No, she couldn't have done it herself, could she? I mean, so he'd pay for it. I guess I'm thinking pretty wild."

"I thought you said she loved him."

"Maybe I was wrong about that. Or maybe something made her change, made her hate him instead. That black eye, Kay; that was malicious. She could have said she was ill. And show it off like that, theatrically—"

"She could have at least disguised it with make-up," I admitted, thinking of that for the first time. "She must have had some experience making up for the stage."

"She had an elaborate make-up kit. I saw it when she unpacked. And some stuff you paint on with a brush, to cover blemishes. There was a little birthmark on her forehead, and when she wore her hair a certain way it showed. I tell you, she did it on purpose!"

"Julia! You don't suppose it was make-up—I mean, that she deliberately painted on a black eye?"

"No," she said slowly. "That wouldn't fool anyone on close inspection. Especially—especially when they examined the body."

We were silent for a few minutes. I was thinking over what she had said about not caring who the murderer was, so long as it wasn't Jeff. I thought of Sandra lying there in my room with a knife in her back; and I knew that it mattered vitally to all of us to learn who had placed it there.

"But, Julia—somebody killed her. And whoever it was has got to be punished. Maybe we didn't like her very well. But—you didn't see her. I wish I could forget it. She was young—she had a right to live. And to be stabbed in the back—"

"I don't know anyone who would do that," Julia said. "Do you?"

"That's what you think. But someone we know did it. Only we don't know that someone—"

I stopped, aware that I was incoherent. But Julia seemed to understand me.

BY WM. E. MCKENNEY
America's Card Authority

I believe there is more fun in nice, tricky defense than in making a grand slam. When your partner plays an unusual card, stop and try to reason out what he wants you to do.

In today's hand, on West's opening lead of the king of diamonds, East played the queen. West's first thought was, did my partner have a singleton queen?

No, because South had bid hearts and spades, which accounts for at least eight cards in the major suits. If East held a singleton diamond, that would leave South with six diamonds.

Was East asking his partner to shift to a spade by playing an unnecessarily high card? With your holding the ace-queen, most certainly not.

Therefore, East must have wanted to say to his partner, "I hold the jack of diamonds. There are only two diamonds in dummy, and I believe this is the only time you can ever get me in the lead. If you want me in the lead to play spades, play a small diamond."

That is exactly what West did. East won with the jack shifted to a spade and the contract was immediately defeated. Had West continued with his ace of diamonds, there would have been no way to prevent South from making game.

HEALTH SERIES STARTS TODAY

Designed to better acquaint the public with the service which members of the medical profession render to the community, a series of health talks, "Telling the Public About the Doctor" begins today in the Times-Mirror. These articles are being sponsored by A. N. McCausland, prescription druggist, and will appear weekly.

For years the medical profession has been shrouded in mystery so far as the general public is concerned. Because of the rigid code of ethics which govern publicity of doctors, few facts regarding the average doctor's investments in time and study, as well as reliable information concerning common diseases have reached the public.

Mr. McCausland, in this copyrighted series, will endeavor to clarify some of the questions which have puzzled the laymen for years. All of the articles will be highly ethical and will include only reliable, well authenticated information.

For twenty-six years, Mr. McCausland has been actively engaged in the profession of pharmacy in this community. Both personally and in practical exemplification in his own store, Mr. McCausland has stood for the highest ethical standards. Mr. McCausland holds the degree of Doctor of Pharmacy, the highest conferred in his field and is a member of the executive committee of the Pennsylvania Pharmaceutical Society in which he represents Warren, Venango and Erie counties. He has served in Warren county on the Health Acts Committee in the State Department of Public Assistance. For the past two years, he has had his son, William McCausland, a registered pharmacist, associated with him in the Warren Drug Store.

The publication of this series in the Warren Times-Mirror will, Mr. McCausland earnestly believes, be a fitting way to show appreciation for services rendered to the public by the medical profession.

"I have felt for a long time," he said, "that something should be done in recognition of the doctor's extremely helpful attitude toward me and my neighbors. At the same time, I did not wish to enter into any program except that which might sustain the dignity and high code of ethics of medical men. I believe that in the series 'Telling the Public About the Doctor' I have the solution to the problem. I sincerely hope that everyone will read the message in today's paper and continue to follow the articles each week throughout the coming year."

BY WM. E. MCKENNEY

I believe there is more fun in nice, tricky defense than in making a grand slam. When your partner plays an unusual card, stop and try to reason out what he wants you to do.

In today's hand, on West's opening lead of the king of diamonds, East played the queen. West's first thought was, did my partner have a singleton queen?

No, because South had bid hearts and spades, which accounts for at least eight cards in the major suits. If East held a singleton diamond, that would leave South with six diamonds.

Was East asking his partner to shift to a spade by playing an unnecessarily high card? With your holding the ace-queen, most certainly not.

Therefore, East must have wanted to say to his partner, "I hold the jack of diamonds. There are only two diamonds in dummy, and I believe this is the only time you can ever get me in the lead. If you want me in the lead to play spades, play a small diamond."

That is exactly what West did. East won with the jack shifted to a spade and the contract was immediately defeated. Had West continued with his ace of diamonds, there would have been no way to prevent South from making game.

HEALTH SERIES STARTS TODAY

Designed to better acquaint the public with the service which members of the medical profession render to the community, a series of health talks, "Telling the Public About the Doctor" begins today in the Times-Mirror. These articles are being sponsored by A. N. McCausland, prescription drug-gist, and will appear weekly.

For years the medical profession has been shrouded in mystery so far as the general public is concerned. Because of the rigid code of ethics which govern publicity of doctors, few facts regarding the average doctor's investments in time and study, as well as reliable information concerning common diseases have reached the public.

Mr. McCausland, in this copyrighted series, will endeavor to clarify some of the questions which have puzzled the laymen for years. All of the articles will be highly ethical and will include only reliable, well authenticated information.

For twenty-six years, Mr. McCausland has been actively engaged in the profession of pharmacy in this community. Both personally and in practical exemplification in his own store, Mr. McCausland has stood for the highest ethical standards. Mr. McCausland holds the degree of Doctor of Pharmacy, the highest conferred in his field and is a member of the executive committee of the Pennsylvania Pharmaceutical Society in which he represents Warren, Venango and Erie counties. He has served in Warren county on the Health Acts Committee in the State Department of Public Assistance. For the past two years, he has had his son, William McCausland, a registered pharmacist, associated with him in the Warren Drug Store.

The publication of this series in the Warren Times-Mirror will, Mr. McCausland earnestly believes, be a fitting way to show appreciation for services rendered to the public by the medical profession.

"I have felt for a long time," he said, "that something should be done in recognition of the doctor's extremely helpful attitude toward me and my neighbors. At the same time, I did not wish to enter into any program except that which might sustain the dignity and high code of ethics of medical men. I believe that in the series 'Telling the Public About the Doctor' I have the solution to the problem. I sincerely hope that everyone will read the message in today's paper and continue to follow the articles each week throughout the coming year."

Obituary

MRS. CLARA P. KJELLIN
Mrs. Clara P. Kjellin, widow of N. J. Kjellin, passed away suddenly at 10:50 o'clock last night at the family home, 112 Canton street. She was a member of the Bethlehem Congregational church. She leaves one daughter, Mrs. Margaret Drum, of Warren, and one son, Nels Kjellin, at home; also one grandson, John A. Drum; one sister and two brothers, Mrs. Axel Nelson, Jamestown, N. Y., Ed and Oscar Shellen, of Warren. Funeral arrangements are not complete and will be announced later.

W. P. WEAVER
Funeral services in memory of Wilbur Perry Weaver, aged 81 years, will be held from the home in Youngsville at 2:30 o'clock on Friday afternoon, followed by interment in the Youngsville cemetery.

Mr. Weaver died Tuesday night at the home of a daughter, Mrs. S. L. Ward, of Ellet. O. Besides this daughter, he leaves his wife, Viola Emma Weaver, 51 years of age, and the following children: Mrs. E. C. Sederburg, Youngsville; F. E. Weaver and G. P. Weaver, Irvine; W. H. Weaver, Mayville, Y.; also a number of nieces and nephews.

LEWIS A. STOCK
The funeral of Lewis A. Stock, Pittsfield young man, who was killed near his home about noon Monday, will be held from St. John's church at Tidouete at nine o'clock Friday morning. Interment will be made in the Tidouete cemetery. Friends may call at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Stock, Pittsfield.

MISS SOPHIA KNUPP
Funeral services in memory of Miss Sophia Knupp, who passed away at the Warren General Hospital yesterday morning, will be held from the home of her brother, Ralph Knupp, 610 Prospect street, tomorrow afternoon at two o'clock with the Rev. Harold C. Warren officiating. Interment will be in Mead cemetery.

Miss Knupp was engaged to Thomas Farrell, of this city, although the wedding, which was to have taken place in the near future, had not been announced.

ADDIE J. MILLER
Funeral services for Addie J. Miller were held yesterday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock from the home of her brother, Leonard Miller, 204 Monroe street, with Dr. Thomas E. Colley officiating. Interment was in Oakland cemetery with the following acting as bearers: A. E. Johnson, Harold Johnson, Paul Olson, Harry Holt, James Clark and Martin Peterson. In attendance from away were Mrs. Whitcomb and Donald Miller, of Chancellors Valley.

ELMER C. ECKLUND
Funeral services for Elmer C. Ecklund, of Jamestown who died at his home yesterday morning, will be held Friday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock from the Henderson and Lincoln Funeral Home there.

Mr. Ecklund had been ill a week. He was born in Busti, September 26, 1877, and was a salesman for electric signs.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Josephine Herman Ecklund; a daughter, Mrs. Florence Abrahamson, of Jamestown; a brother, Gust Ecklund, of Busti; four sisters, Mrs. William Kribill, of Warren; Mrs. Minnie Hedstrom and Mrs. Alvin Hambleton, of Jamestown; and Mrs. Fred McGraw, of Sugar Grove.

MRS. HILDA STOHLBERG
Funeral services in memory of Mrs. Hilda Stohlberg, widow of Oscar Stohlberg, of Jamestown, were held Sunday afternoon at Youngberg's Funeral Home in Jamestown. The Rev. W. O. Brainard, pastor of the Sugar Grove Methodist church, officiated. Surviving are her daughter, Miss Edin as accompanist. Interment was in Lakeview cemetery with the following bearers: George Samuelson, Thomas Laycock, Thomas Waddington and Frank Waddington. In attendance from a distance were Mrs. Walter J. Sweeney, of New York; Mr. and Mrs. Sigrid Carlson, of Akron, O.

Willkie Reaches for the Sky

Under cloud-flaked western sky, a smiling Wendell Willkie extends his arms in greeting to followers. The Republican presidential candidate is vacationing in Rocky Mountain region.

Obituary

MRS. CLARA P. KJELLIN
Mrs. Clara P. Kjellin, widow of N. J. Kjellin, passed away suddenly at 10:50 o'clock last night at the family home, 112 Cantata street. She was a member of the Bethlehem Congregational church. She leaves one daughter, Mrs. Margaret Drum, of Warren, and one son, Nels Kjellin, at home; also one grandson, John A. Drum; one sister and two brothers, Mrs. Axel Nelson, Jamestown, N. Y., Ed and Oscar Shellin, of Warren. Funeral arrangements are not complete and will be announced later.

W. P. WEAVER
Funeral services in memory of Wilbur Perry Weaver, aged 81 years, will be held from the home in Youngsville at 2:30 o'clock on Friday afternoon, followed by interment in the Youngsville cemetery.

Mr. Weaver died Tuesday night at the home of a daughter, Mrs. S. L. Ward, of Ellet, O. Besides this daughter, he leaves his wife, Viola Emma Weaver, 81 years of age, and the following children: Mrs. E. C. Sederburg, Youngsville; F. E. Weaver and G. P. Weaver, Irvine; W. H. Weaver, Mayville, Y.; also a number of nieces and nephews.

LEWIS A. STOCK
The funeral of Lewis A. Stock, Pittsfield young man, who was killed near his home about noon Monday, will be held from St. John's church at Tidouete at nine o'clock Friday morning. Interment will be made in the Tidouete cemetery. Friends may call at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Stock, Pittsfield.

MISS SOPHIA KNUPP
Funeral services in memory of Miss Sophia Knupp, who passed away at the Warren General Hospital yesterday morning, will be held from the home of her brother, Ralph Knupp, 610 Prospect street, tomorrow afternoon at two o'clock with the Rev. Harold C. Warren officiating. Interment will be in Mead cemetery.

Miss Knupp was engaged to Thomas Farrell, of this city, although the wedding, which was to have taken place in the near future, had not been announced.

ADDIE J. MILLER
Funeral services for Addie J. Miller were held yesterday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock from the home of her brother, Leonard Miller, 204 Monroe street, with Dr. Thomas E. Colley officiating. Interment was in Oakland cemetery with the following acting as bearers: A. E. Johnson, Harold Johnson, Paul Olson, Harry Holt, James Clark and Martin Peterson. In attendance from away were Mrs. Whitcomb and Donald Miller, of Chandelers Valley.

ELMER C. ECKLUND
Funeral services for Elmer C. Ecklund, of Jamestown who died at his home yesterday morning, will be held Friday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock from the Henderson and Lincoln Funeral Home there. Mr. Ecklund had been ill a week. He was born in Busti, September 26, 1877, and was a salesman for electric signs.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Josephine Herman Ecklund; a daughter, Mrs. Florence Abrahamson, of Jamestown; a brother, Gust Ecklund, of Busti; four sisters, Mrs. William Kribb, of Warren; Mrs. Minnie Hedstrom and Mrs. Alvin Hambleton, of Jamestown, and Mrs. Fred McGraw, of Sugar Grove.

MRS. HILDA STOHLBERG
Funeral services in memory of Mrs. Hilda Stohlberg, widow of Oscar Stohlberg, of Jamestown, were held Sunday afternoon at Youngberg's Funeral Home in Jamestown. The Rev. W. O. Brainard, pastor of the Sugar Grove Methodist church, officiated. Stuart Perrin sang, with Miss Mae Edin as accompanist. Interment was in Lakeview cemetery with the following bearers: George Samuelson, Thomas Laycock, Thomas Waddington and Frank Waddington. In attendance from a distance were Mrs. Walter J. Sweeney, of New York; Mr. and Mrs. Sigrid Carlson, of Akron, O.

Watching for Enemy Periscopes

From the decks of swift motor torpedo boats, like this one, keen eyes of Eire's seamen watch for periscope of invader's submarines. "Mosquito" boats are Eire's "sea scouts."

Irish Eyes Aloft

In addition to mining the southern entrance to the Irish Sea against feared Nazi sweep over Ireland, neutral Eire's air force maintains constant patrol over the bleak shores.

POOR OLD JALOPY

Pittsburgh, July 25—(P)—Noticing a battered old car with bullet holes in the sides, fenders, lights, windshields and doors, police waited for hours to question its owners. Two young men from McKeesport, surprised when the officers grabbed them, explained:

"Honest we aren't bandits. We use the car for target practice—it's the target." And they convinced detectives that was true.

Associated Press Sports Writer

The Cincinnati Reds look better day by day and twice as good by night.

As they thrashed the Brooklyn Dodgers, 6-3, last night for Bucky Walters' 15th victory this season, fans sat back and told their neighbors they were looking at the best world champion.

They never made a fielding error during the three-game series which they swept with comparative ease to inflate their first place margin to eight full games.

Walters was at the peak of his form and never had to hear down. His teammates scored one run in the first inning and four more in the second, when they drove Tex Carlisle out the mound with a triple and four singles. Walters muffed the Dodgers on five, affected until the ninth inning when a single by Joe Medwick and a home run by Dolph Camilli saved Brooklyn from a complete rout.

In the only other National League game, the Boston Bees beat the Chicago Cubs, 4-3 with Carvell Howell's triple knocking in the deciding run.

While the Reds have been settling the pennant dispute in the National League to all intents and purposes, the American League field has narrowed practically to two teams—Detroit and Cleveland.

Both won yesterday as the junior circuit came up with one of the wildest days in its history.

The Tigers kept half a game in front with a 7-5 decision over the Washington Senators. With Hank Greenberg hitting his 15th homer and Eddy's hitting his seventh, Detroit acquired a 7-0 lead only to give back five of it in the sixth and seventh innings.

The Indians squeezed past the Athletics, 7-6, with Roy Weatherly's two-run homer providing the principal impetus.

The rampancy Chicago White Sox rolled up 20 hits in beating the Boston Red Sox, 12-10, for their sixth successive triumph. Chicago scored six runs in the first inning and intermittently thereafter, but Boston bunched five runs in the sixth.

The worst debacle of all, however, was at St. Louis, where the Browns ripped open the world champion New York Yankees, 14-12, after the Yanks had tallied six runs in the first frame. The Yanks got four homers, including one by Bill Dickey with the bases loaded and another by Joe DiMaggio that extended his hitting streak to 17 games.

But the Browns kept digging away for 17 hits off six New York pitchers, took a 12-10 lead in the seventh and after the Yanks tied the score in the ninth, Walter Judnich hit a home run with one in the last half of the inning to win.

Only games scheduled.

The new specifications for the proposed Russell Field fence have arrived, one plan calling for sheet metal fence from the base of the hill to Lexington avenue, the other being the same plus a barrier along Lexington avenue on the south side. Incidentally, we have been misleading our readers in stating that the proposed enclosure will run north and south only as far as the point where the snow fence was erected for high school and Red Jacket games—it will go clear to Lexington avenue. Vehicular entrances are planned on the south side, indicating that there will be parking space provided in the field, behind the south bleachers. Bids will be opened August 5 at a meeting of the school board, at which time the directors will decide how much can be provided in time for this fall.

Whether the Red Jacket will ride again has not yet been determined. A great deal depends on available backfield material, the death of which was one of last season's headaches, and to date no outstanding back has been uncovered. A suggestion has been made that the team be made up of ex-high stars, and semi-pro instead of professional ball be played. That would mean, of course, that such teams as North Tonawanda, McKeesport, Cleveland, Monessen etc., would be shunted from the schedule and replaced by semi-pro clubs from Jamestown, Meadville, Oil City and other smaller communities where professional ball is unknown. If it is found that a crowd of 2,000 can be drawn to Russell Field by that kind of football it might be considered. Rental and increased taxes will bump the expense account this season, but some way is usually found to circumvent these situations by slashing elsewhere.

Although President Bob Stedler has ordered the game replayed and although the umpire has admitted his mistake which caused a protest, Manager Eddie Onslow, of the Bradford Bees, grows from his jobbed he will give the game to Onslow rather than play it again. Jake Pitzer based his protest on the fact that Umpire Guy Carroll permitted Kister to advance from first to third instead of stopping him at second, when Kister got a hit and raced on after a wild throw. Carroll sheepishly said he had erred and there wasn't much else Prexy Bob could do under the circumstances. So now they give away games yet!

You said it! . . . Some of the softball players are kicking a little about the condition of diamonds and wonder what can be done about it. . . . Get a rake. . . . Additional tennis courts are being constructed at the Warren State Hospital and the Y. M. C. A. court is nearing completion which will help the net situation somewhat. . . . Boy, we need municipal courts right here, though! . . . Haven't heard from Les Sheldon lately—wonder how his golf course is coming along? . . . The Conewago Valley annual tournament for men golfers ought to be starting right about now. . . . Golf at night is not too distant. . . . One lighting firm in the west has already been asked to submit bids for illuminating a nine-hole course. . . . Funny, but there are apparently more Detroit Tiger fans than Cleveland rooters in Warren, if you can believe the telephone rating after a night game is played by either club. . . . Warren ought to be a busy place on October 12 with the Odd Fellows convening here and the Warren-Jamestown classic booked for Russell Field. . . . If Fred Gagliardi and Dick Hines had been able to hurt, we'll betcha the National Forge would have been state champions.

Kaufman, a 41-year-old driving range proprietor, was a 2 and 1 victim of 19-year-old Jack La Rose, Detroit, in the second round.

Stimitts first took the measure of Marshal Springer, Chicago, 3 and 1, and then had to go 20 holes to gain a 1 up victory over F. E. Ames, Beaumont, Tex., machineist.

Furgol, a gallery favorite because of an injured left arm he cannot keep straight, disposed of Edward Ebel, Minneapolis, 3 and 2, and William Fritz, San Francisco, 2 up.

Louis Jennings, Oregon amateur champion and the Far West's only survivor, whipped William Korn, Salt Lake City, 6 and 5, and Samuel Musico, of Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania Public Links champion, 3 and 2.

Today's two 18-hole rounds will reduce the field to four. Semi-finals tomorrow and finals Saturday will be over the 36-hole route.

BASEBALL VETS Ken Overlin Loses Decision But Holds Belt As Soose Wins

Clarion, July 23 (P)—Some 200 old diamond stars, from the majors all the way down to the sandlots, organized the Baseball Veterans Association of Pennsylvania last night, electing Richard Guy, former Pittsburgh sports editor, as their president.

Stanley Granger, of Waynesburg, was chosen vice president; Thomas Andrews, of New Bethlehem, treasurer, and Arthur McCracken, of Brookville, secretary.

The old-timers hailed from the following counties: Allegheny, Lawrence, Jefferson, Clarion, Elk, Indiana and Blair.

Former big leaguers present were Bugs Heitshey of the Boston Nationals and later the Oil City-Franklin League; Rube Witherup, Boston Americans; Fritz Sharon and Fred Tannehill, of the Pittsburgh Pirates.

From the minors were Rube Hagerty, Reynoldsville; Fred Biener, Holidaysburg; Dr. William Thompson, New Castle; Frank Campbell, Punxsutawney, and Sharp Henrich, Clarion.

The oldest member is Robert Whaley, 87, of New Castle, who played with the Neshannocks team organized at New Castle back in 1873.

U. S. Marshal John Sloan, of Pittsburgh, was master of ceremonies and J. Quakey, former Pitt football star, was a guest of honor.

Overlin and his manager, Chris Dundee, both expressed dissatisfaction with the judges' verdict although Ken admitted he wasn't at his best last night. He commented: "That kid can't fight. I can beat him anytime, but this was an off night for me."

Billy said he was never "really" hurt at any time and "the fifth I sensed that he was tiring and tried to step up my pace."

Setting a whirlwind pace, Overlin took a substantial lead in the first two rounds. In the third he ran into a bruising right to the body and Soose gained command. The Farrell boy came on with a rush in the last two rounds as Overlin tired noticeably.

The show drew $7,875 despite the rain.

Sugar Grove

Sugar Grove, July 23.—The choir of the Mission church is sponsoring a sacred concert Thursday evening at 7:30 standard time, for the benefit of the piano fund. The male quartet from Emmanuel Lutheran church, Jamestown will provide the program which will be given at the church on the Warren-Sugar Grove road.

The Wimdousis Class met with Mrs. Margaret Bindley Friday afternoon with twelve members and two guests present.

Mrs. Arthur Stauffer presided at the business meeting. Mrs. James Pelton, Mrs. Fred Richards and Mrs. Fred Barrett were appointed as a committee to prepare the state of officers for the election at the next meeting.

Mrs. Pelton presented the program and led the devotions, reading the scripture. Articles were read from the Christian Advocate by Mrs. Pelton, Mrs. O. D. Barlow, Mrs. John Mahan, Mrs. Mary Wiggins and Mrs. Cora Broughton. Miss Flossie Broughton gave a reading, "My Aunt Betty." Mrs. Richards offered the closing prayer. A social hour and a cafeteria lunch completed the afternoon.

Mrs. C. F. Norbeck was given a surprise party at her home Saturday afternoon helping her celebrate her birthday. A delicious lunch was served at a table centered with a lovely bouquet of roses from the garden of Mrs. Robert Mahan. Mrs. Norbeck was presented with a nice gift from the fifteen women present.

Weekend guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Abbott were Mrs. Ruby Larkin and Hazel Davis, Cleveland, O.; Mrs. Louis Hooper and Helen Abbott, Bradford; and Mrs. Ethel Coburn, Rew, Pa., all nieces of Mr. Abbott.

Miss Anna Mattison of Malden, Mass., arrived Monday evening to spend her vacation with her brother M. D. Mattison. She was accompanied by her niece Eleanor Mattison, of Kennedy, who will be her guest for a few days.

Miss Gertrude Landin and Miss Grace Kothals of Effala, left Tuesday morning for a trip through the New England states and Canada.

Mrs. Earl Stilston and son Earl, of Cambridge, who were injured in an automobile accident, have been dismissed from the hospital and are guests at the home of Mrs. C. M. Short. Mr. Stilston will remain for some time as a patient in the Buffalo General Hospital.

Mrs. R. E. Abbott, daughter Helen and son Jack, are spending a few days with Mrs. R. E. Ed-Lake, Erie near Westfield. Sunday afternoon they were joined by a party of Sugar Grove people for a picnic.

Miss Mildred Norbeck, of Lakeland, Fla., is a guest of her relatives here.

Chapman's SCOREBOARD

U. S. G. A. Straightens Us Out on Golf Terms; "Bogey" Doesn't Mean "One Over Par" at All; Don't Say Opponent or the Match Is "Dormie"

By HARRY GRAVSON
NEA Service Sports Editor

BECAUSE it sometimes has difficulty in understanding questions which come to it due to confusion in terms used the rules committee of the United States Golf Association straightens us out after all these years.

For example, "bogey" does not mean "one over par," as we have always believed. It means the score which a fair player should make on a given hole and so for an entire course. It parallels par. If a word meaning "one over par" is needed, the committee suggests a word be coined which will not conflict with one of established meaning. "Birdie" and "eagle" are such useful words.

If one man plays against another, the match is a "single". In stroke play two players competing together are a "couple".

"THREESOME" designates a match in which one player plays a match against two playing alternate strokes with one ball such a match being rare. The word does not mean three players each playing against the other. That is a three-ball match. Neither does "threesome" correctly designate three players competing together in a stroke competition, the proper word in such case being simply "three".

"FOUR-OMME" covers two players playing alternate strokes with one ball against two others playing one ball in match play, or against the field in stroke play.

There has been a tendency to use the word to cover a four-ball match and so "Scotch foursome" has been used in some states to distinguish between the two.

In some parts of the country, "Scotch foursome" is used to mean a four-ball match in which the best and worst ball or best and aggregate count. Another use of "Scotch foursome" is to describe a four-ball match in which only the total of the scores on one side counts on each hole. "California Scotch foursome" has been used to mean some form of four-ball match.

The rules do not cover best ball and aggregate best and worst or similar types of matches.

The committee suggests that "foursome" and "four-ball" be used in their proper sense.

"Medal play" has crept in as a synonym for "stroke play" but the latter is correct.

When a player, or his side, is as many holes up as there are holes remaining to play, he or his side is "dormie". It is incorrect to say that the opponent or the match is dormie.

So watch your golf language.

Grayson's SCOREBOARD

U. S. G. A. Straightens Us Out on Golf Terms; "Bogey" Doesn't Mean "One Over Par" at All; Don't Say Opponent or the Match Is "Dormie"

By HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Service Sports Editor

BECAUSE it sometimes has difficulty in understanding questions which come to it due to confusion in terms used, the rules committee of the United States Golf Association straightens us out after all these years.

For example, "bogey" does not mean "one over par," as we have always believed. It means the score which a fair player should make on a given hole and so for an entire course. It is a utility word meaning "one over par" is needed, the committee suggests a word be coined which will not conflict with one of established meaning. "Birdie" and "eagle" are such useful words.

If one man plays against another, the match is a "single". In stroke play, two players competing together are a "couple".

"THREESOME" designates a match in which one player plays against two playing alternate strokes with one ball, such a match being rare. The word does not mean three players, each playing against the other. That is a three-ball match. Neither does "threesome" correctly designate three players competing together in a stroke competition, the proper word in such case being simply "three".

"Foursome" covers two players playing alternate strokes with one ball against two others playing one ball in match play, or against the field in stroke play.

There has been a tendency to use the word to cover a four-ball match, and so "Scottish foursome" has been used in some cases to distinguish between the two.

In some parts of the country, "Scottish foursome" is used to mean a four-ball match in which the best and worst ball or best and aggregate score counts. Another use of "Scottish foursome" is to describe a four-ball match in which only the total of the scores on one side counts on each hole. "California Scottish foursome" has been used to mean some form of four-ball match.

The rules do not cover best ball and aggregate, best and worst or similar types of matches.

The committee suggests that "foursome" and "four-ball" be used in their proper sense. "Medal play" has crept in as a synonym for "stroke play," but the latter is correct.

When a player, or his side, is as many holes up as there are holes remaining to play, he or his side is "dormie". It is incorrect to say that the opponent or the match is dormie.

So watch your golf language.

THREE FORMER CHAMPIONS BOW OUT OF PUBLIX

Detroit, July 25.—(P)—Two par-busting youths who broke all qualifying records for amateur competition match strokes today over the long Rackham municipal course in the third round of the national public links golf championships.

The two—Worth Stimits, Jr., a Colorado College senior, and Edward J. Furgol, 22-year-old U.S. N. Y. metal polisher—shared medalist honors with a record-breaking qualifying score of 138.

They were among the survivors of a hectic day of firing in which three ex-champions fell by the wayside in the first round and another went out in the second round.

Defending Champion Andy Szewko, of Pittsburgh, was the first to go, falling before William Bubbs, of Chicago, 3 and 2, in the day's biggest upset.

Bubbs was three down to Szewko at the end of five holes, but evened the match in the next six holes and then bagged an eagle three on the long fourteenth that proved the turning point.

The other former champions who failed were David A. Mitchell, of Atlanta, 1934 winner, who lost, 1 up, to William Doll, Louisville, Ky., when Doll dropped a 35-foot putt on the final green, and Carl Kaufman, of Pittsburgh, 1927-28, 2 up.

Kaufman, a 41-year-old driving range proprietor, was a 2 and 1 victim of 19-year-old Jack La Rose, Detroit, in the second round.

Stimits first took the measure of Marshall Springer, Chicago, 3 and 1, and then had to go 20 holes to gain a 1 up victory over F. E. Ames, Beaumont, Tex., machinist. Furgol, a gallery favorite because of an injured left arm he cannot keep straight, disposed of Edward Ebel, Minneapolis, 3 and 2, and William Fritz, San Francisco, 2 up.

Louis Jennings, Oregon amateur champion and the West's only survivor, whipped William Korns, Salt Lake City, 5 and 5, and Samuel Musico, of Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania Public Links champion, 3 and 2.

Today's two 18-hole rounds will reduce the field to four. Semi-finals tomorrow and finals Saturday will be over the 36-hole route.

Softball Notes

MARCONI CLUB AWAY
The Marconi Club baseball team plays under the lights Friday night in Coudersport, the tilt starting at nine o'clock. The following players are asked to report at the club at 5:45 o'clock: Mike Emerson, Bill Swanson, Jim Rudolph, Andy Natale, Chick Minnell, Jasperon, Bill Mulvey, Weigel, Cap Sealise, Joe Bevevino, Jack Logan, Casey Williams, Lee Strassbaugh, Dick McGuire and Scoop Lucia.
In the near future the Marconi Club has games booked in Buffalo, O. City, Bradford and Marienville.

Yesterday's Stars

By The Associated Press
Walter Judnich, Browns—Made five hits, one a two-run homer in ninth inning, to beat Yankees.
Roy Weatherly, Indians—His home run with one on was decisive factor in victory over Athletics.
Al Benton, Tigers—One-hit relief pitching for 2-13 innings saved victory over Senators.
Bucky Walters, Reds—Held Dodgers to seven hits in achieving 15th win of season.

SPORT SCATTERINGS

The new specifications for the proposed Russell Field fence have arrived. One plan calling for sheet metal fence from the base of the hill to Lexington avenue, the other being the same plus a barrier along Lexington avenue on the south side. Incidentally, we have been misleading our readers in stating that the proposed enclosure will run north and south only as far as the point where the snow fence was erected for high school and Red Jacket games—it will go clear to Lexington avenue. Vehicular entrances are planned on the south side, indicating that there will be parking space provided in the field, behind the south bleachers. Bids will be opened August 5 at a meeting of the school board, at which time the directors will decide how much can be provided in time for this fall.

Whether the Red Jackets will ride again has not yet been determined. A great deal depends on available backfield material, the dearth of which was one of last season's headaches, and to date no outstanding back has been uncovered. A suggestion has been made that the team be made up of ex-high, state, and semi-pro instead of professional ball players. That would mean, of course, that such teams as North Tonawanda, McKeesport, Cleveland, Monessen etc., would be shunted from the schedule and replaced by semi-pro clubs from Jamestown, Meadville, Oil City and other smaller communities where professional ball is unknown. If it is found that a crowd of 2,000 can be drawn to Russell Field by that kind of football it might be considered. Rental and increased taxes will bump the expense account this season, but some way is usually found to circumvent these situations by slashing elsewhere.

Although President Bob Stedler has ordered the game played and although the umpire has admitted his mistake which caused a protest, Manager Eddie Onslow, of the Bradford Bees, growls from his sickbed he will give the game to Olean rather than play it again. Jake Pitter based his protest on the fact that Umpire Judy Carroll permitted Kister to advance from first to third instead of stopping him at second, when Kister got a hit and raced on after a wild throw. Carroll sheepishly said he had erred and there wasn't much else Presby Bob could do under the circumstances. So now they give away games yet!

You said it! . . . Some of the softball players are kicking a little about the condition of diamonds and wonder what can be done about it. . . . Get a rake. . . . Additional tennis courts are being constructed at the Warren State Hospital and the Y. M. C. A. court is nearing completion which will help the net situation somewhat. . . . Boy, we need municipal courts right here, though! . . . Haven't heard from Les Sheldon lately—wonder how his golf course is coming along? . . . One lighting firm in the west has already been asked to submit bids for illuminating a nine-hole course. . . . Funny, but there are apparently more Detroit Tiger fans than Cleveland rooters in Warren, if you can believe the telephone rating after a night game is played by either club. . . . Warren ought to be a busy place on October 12 with the Odd Fellows convening here and the Warren-Jamestown classic booked for Russell Field. . . . If Fred Gagliardi and Dick Hines had been able to hurl, well betcha the National Forge would have been state champions.

FRANKIE PARKER AND KOVACS TOP SEABRIGHT BILL

Seabright, N. J., July 25.—(P)—Tennis Coach Mercer Beasley likes a fellow to look good making a shot, but he's the first to tell you the shot's the thing, and form is strictly secondary.

That's one reason Beasley is willing to step out and predict his protégé, Frankie Parker of Pasadena—whose forehead, fashions have been a matter of tennis gossip for years—will win another leg on the big bowl that is the prize for the Seabright Invitation Tennis Tourney.

"If Frankie keeps on playing as he has been in this tournament, nobody here is going to beat him," said Beasley.

If Beasley is right, Parker will be to survive a field which in its quarter-final stage includes National Champion Bobby Riggs, Chicago; Elwood T. Cooke, Portland, Ore., runner-up in the All-England championship at Wimbledon last year; Frankie Kovacs, Oakland, Calif.; Gardnar Mulloy, Coral Gables, Fla.; Sidney B. Wood, Jr., New York; Gilbert A. Hunt, Jr., Washington, D. C., and Henry Prusoff, Seattle, Wash.
Parker was due today to engage Kovacs, who yielded four games yesterday in polishing off Wilmer L. Allison, Austin, Tex.

BASEBALL VETS OF STATE FORM AN ASSOCIATION

Clarion, July 25.—(P)—Some 200 old diamond stars, from the majors all the way down to the sandlots, organized the Baseball Veterans Association of Pennsylvania last night, electing Richard Guy, former Pittsburgh sports editor, as their president.

Stanley Granger, of Waynesburg, was chosen vice president; Thomas Andrews, of New Bethlehem, treasurer, and Arthur McCracken, of Brookville, secretary.

The old-timers hailed from the following counties: Allegheny, Lawrence, Jefferson, Clarion, Elk, Indiana and Blair.
Former big leaguers present were Bugs Hershey of the Boston Nationals and later the Oil City-Franklin League; Rube Witherup, Boston Americans; Fritz Sharon and Fred Tamm, of the Pittsburgh Pirates.

From the minors were Rube Haggerty, Reynoldsville; Fred Brenner, Hollidaysburg; Dr. William Thompson, New Castle; Frank Campbell, Pottsville; and Sharp Hennrich, Clarion.

The oldest member is Robert Whaley, 87, of New Castle, who played with the Neshannocks team organized at New Castle back in 1873.

U. S. Marshal John Sloan, of Pittsburgh, was master of ceremonies, and Jess Quatsey, former Pitt football star, was a guest of honor.

TIE GAME PLAYED IN SEMI-PRO WHEEL

Vandergrift, Pa., July 25.—(P)—Ford City and Turtle Creek battled nine innings to a 5-5 tie in the only game of the state semi-pro-eliminations last night.

Ken Overlin Loses Decision But Holds Belt As Soose Wins

Scranton, July 25.—(P)—Lean Billy Soose, who graduated from collegiate ranks to the money division, was a big step ahead today in his quest for a middleweight championship bout.

The former Penn State clouter came through last night in a soaking rain with a close 10-round decision over Ken Overlin of Washington, D. C., recognized in some states as the middleweight titleholder.

The 23-year-old son of a Farrell, Pa., steel worker won the vote of the two judges, but the referee thought Overlin deserved the edge. Soose weighed 162½, Overlin 163, for the non-title fight.

Sugar Grove

Sugar Grove, July 23.—The choir of the Mission church is sponsoring a sacred concert Thursday evening at 7:30 standard time, for the benefit of the piano fund. The male quartet from Immanuel Lutheran church, Jamestown will provide the program which will be given at the church on the Warren-Sugar Grove road.

The Womodausis Class met with Mrs. Margaret Bindley Friday afternoon with twelve members and two guests present.

Mrs. Arthur Stauffer presided at the business meeting. Mrs. James Pelton, Mrs. Fred Richards and Mrs. Fred Barrett were appointed as a committee to prepare the slate of officers for the election at the next meeting.

Mrs. Pelton presented the program and led the devotions, reading the scripture. Articles were read from the Christian Advocate by Mrs. Pelton, Mrs. O. D. Barlow, Mrs. John Mahan, Mrs. Mary Wiggins and Mrs. Cora Broughton.

Mrs. Flossie Broughton gave a reading, "My Aunt Betty." Mrs. Richards offered the closing prayer. A social hour and cafeteria lunch completed the afternoon.

Mrs. C. F. Norbeck was given a surprise party at her home Saturday afternoon helping her celebrate her birthday. A delicious lunch was served at a table centered with a lovely bouquet of roses from the garden of Mrs. Robert Mahan. Mrs. Norbeck was presented with a nice gift from the fifteen women present.

Weekend guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Abbott were Mrs. Ruby Larkin and Hazel Davis, Cleveland, O.; Mrs. Louis Hooper and Helen Abbott, Bradford; and Mrs. Ethel Coburn, Rew, Pa., all nieces of Mr. Abbott.

Miss Anna Mattison of Malden, Mass., arrived Monday evening to spend her vacation with her brother Mr. D. Mattison. She was accompanied by her niece Eleanor Mattison, of Kennedy, who will be her guest for a few days.

Miss Gertrude Landin and Miss Grace Kothals of Buffalo, left Tuesday morning for a trip through the New England states and Canada.

Mrs. Earl Stilson and son Earl, of Cambridge, who were injured in an automobile accident, have been dismissed from the hospital and are guests at the home of Mrs. C. M. Short. Mr. Stilson will remain for some time as a patient in the Buffalo General Hospital.

Mrs. R. E. Abbott, daughter Helen and son Jack, are spending a few days with Mrs. B. F. Edlund and family at a cottage on Lake Erie near Westfield. Sunday afternoon they were joined by a party of Sugar Grove people for a picnic.

Miss Mildred Norbeck, of Lakeland, Fla., is a guest of her relatives here.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Abbott, Miss Minerva Thorpe and Laurence

Overlin and his manager, Chris Dundee, both expressed dissatisfaction with the judges' verdict although Ken admitted he wasn't at his best last night. He commented:

"That kid can't fight. I can beat him anytime, but this was an off night for me."

Billy said he was never "really hurt at any time," and "in the fifth I sensed that he was tiring and tried to step up my pace."

Setting a whirlwind pace, Overlin took a substantial lead in the first two rounds. In the third he ran into a bruising right to the body and Soose gained command. The Farrell boy came on with a rush in the last two rounds as Overlin tired noticeably.

The show drew $7,875 despite the rain.

Abbott, were Sunday guests of relatives in Canton, O.

Mr. and Mrs. Neil Scott entertained Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Peterson and family at a dinner party. Sunday. Guests at the Scott home Monday were Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Peterson and daughters Ruth and Gertrude of Corry, and Ralph Johnson, a classmate of the girls at Upland University.

Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Norbeck and daughters Marian, Marie and June, were Sunday guests of Mrs. Norbeck's brothers at Meadville.

Mrs. Walter J. Sweeney returned to New York Sunday evening, having been called here by the illness and death of her mother, Mrs. Hilda Stohberg.

Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Abbott, returned Thursday evening from Buffalo, where Mr. Abbott is receiving a series of treatments at the Buffalo General Hospital for a lung infection.

Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Sponsler and daughters Joyce and Norma are guests of relatives at DuBois, Pa.

accident occurred, dove from the bridge rail to the water and recovered the body.

A call was sent to the central fire station for the inhalator and it was rushed to the scene in the department's emergency truck by Captain Leon Brown.

For about two hours, experts in first aid used artificial respiration methods in an effort to revive the lad but about five o'clock a doctor declared there was no hope of reviving him.

Those who assisted in the attempt to revive the boy were Jasper Shepard, Jack Miner, Bert Metzler, Bill Taylor, Geary Bean and Mrs. Alden Carlson.

Coroner Ed C. Lowrey, who issued a certificate of accidental drowning after deciding that no inquest would be necessary, reported that the boy had a severe bruise under the chin, believed to have been caused when he struck the bridge in falling. It is possible that he was unconscious when he struck the water.

A large crowd was attracted to the scene, most of them remaining until hope of saving the boy was abandoned.

Aiding in the investigation and in directing traffic at the scene were Corp. D. A. Gehr and Private B. A. Reeder, of the Pennsylvania Motor Police, and Officer Freeman Johnson, of the borough police.

Keith Whitton was born in Warren, February 7, 1931. He had resided with his foster parents since he was one year old.

Besides the foster parents, he is survived by one foster brother, DeForest Whitton, of Warren, and one foster sister, Mrs. Lawrence Cherry, of Rouseville.

Removal was made to the Lutz Funeral home.

Funeral services will be held from the home of his foster parents, 2015 Pennsylvania avenue, east, Saturday afternoon at two o'clock. The Rev. Paul R. Splitstone will officiate and interment will be in Pine Grove cemetery.

SPEED ON TURNPIKE

Harrisburg, July 25—(P)—Tests are underway to determine the maximum speed for safety on the new Pennsylvania turnpike. A professional driver rounded a curve at 102 miles an hour yesterday, but officials of the road do not recommend that speed for the average motorist.

Present strength of the National Guard is about 242,000.

Helping Newlyweds

Cooking For Two

Menu For Dinner

Spaghetti and Meat Balls
Buttered Spinach
Bread
Head Lettuce
Olive Dressing
Coke Squares Topped with Pears
Chocolate Sauce
Coffee

4 chopped olives (any kind) added to 1/2 cup French dressing makes a tasty addition to vegetable salads.

Spaghetti and Meat Balls

1/2 pound raw beef, chopped
1 teaspoon minced onions
1/2 cup dried bread crumbs
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon paprika
1/2 teaspoon minced parsley
1 egg

1/2 tablespoons fat (bacon is fine)
1 cup canned tomato soup (not cream of tomato)
1/2 cup spaghetti
1/2 cups cooked spaghetti

Mix beef, onions, crumbs, salt, paprika, parsley and egg. Shape into 1 1/2-inch balls. Sprinkle with flour and brown quickly in fat, heated in a frying pan. Add soup. Cover and simmer 15 minutes. Inspect frequently and turn with a fork. Add cooked spaghetti. Mix until steaming and serve.

Chocolate Sauce

1/4 cup cocoa
1/2 cup boiling water
1/2 cup granulated sugar
2 tablespoons dark brown sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla

Blend cocoa, flour, sugars and salt thoroughly. Add water slowly. Cook slowly and stir constantly until the sauce becomes creamy. Add other ingredients, mix and pour into a jar. Cool, cover and store in the refrigerator.

Technologists figure that 2400 bombing planes consume about 288,000 gallons of gasoline per hour, and that 1600 pursuit planes consume 160,000 gallons per hour.

Between June 30, 1939, and June 30, 1940, there have been approximately 9810 new pilots turned out, ready for immediate action.

Eyes of the portraits on counterfeited bills generally are dull, smudgy or unnaturally white.

AMUSEMENTS

Bette Davis and Charles Boyer in Rachel Field's Brilliant Novel "All This And Heaven Too" at the Library Theatre Sunday, Monday and Tuesday.

Starring Bette Davis and Charles Boyer, "All This And Heaven Too", Warner Bros. screen version of the world-applauded novel by Rachel Field, will have its first local showing Sunday, Monday and Tuesday at the Library Theatre. In the supporting cast are Jeffrey Lynn, Barbara O'Neil, Virginia Weidler, Walter Hampden, Henry Daniell, George Coulouris and many more.

Adapted for the screen by Casey Robinson, "All This And Heaven Too" is the bitter-sweet love story of a little French governess, seemingly destined for spinsterhood, who inspires the love of a great nobleman and thus becomes the storm center of a murder scandal that rocked Paris a century ago. Anatole Litvak directed the production.

called "non-existent" and army equipment and provisions were lacking, police said, and yet they declared war.

"Men like Pierre Laval and Georges Bonnet, who never ceased to protest, were dragged in the mud," the writer said. "The people of France have not forgotten."

SISLER AND STREET

St. Louis, July 25—George Harold Sisler and Gabby Street, former managers of the Browns, acted as pilots again in a softball game between officials of the American Softball Association and sports-casters.

Columbus "discovered America" by discovering one of the Bahama islands.

Cooler Air Moving Out

Of West to Bring End to The Torrid Spell Later

(From Page One)

Western districts were the hottest in the state with 99 degrees reported at Oil City and 94 at Franklin. It was 93 at Pittsburgh. In Philadelphia the mercury stood at 84, it was 92 in Lancaster, 88 in Reading, 87 in York, 89 in Harrisburg and 86 in Scranton and Wilkes-Barre.

The state crop reporting service said the past week's weather was "generally excellent for grain and hay harvesting" but the central and lower Susquehanna valley needed rain. It added that good needed crops were expected in northern districts, "about average" in the southeast and found that corn "did well"; potatoes had a "rather hard" week; tobacco is "late and uneven but fair"; truck crops have shown improvement but need rain; tomatoes are "gaining but still late".

Shortage of Food Creating Grave Situation

the tragedy of this hope is that the German-held areas apparently are very little better off, and soon may be in worse condition, than the southern zone.

Farmers and inhabitants of rural villages have been the first to feel the pinch, rather than residents of big cities and towns.

In Alsace, hand-picked groups of farmers, taken back to their homes by the Germans, still are being fed and supplied by the German army of occupation. In the great central northeastern section, overrun by refugees and demobilized troops, food already is at a premium.

Farmers sent back to work their land were reported in some cases to have returned to the cities within a few days.

"We cannot plow 'on empty stomachs,'" said one who came to the Swiss frontier seeking food.

Independent economic experts in Switzerland say Germany soon may be forced to draw on her own food stocks to feed the French.

tion—center of other delegates' fears about a lack of unity—worked late into the night on proposals for introduction before the noon deadline.

One of these related to European possessions. Some delegates thought it might conflict sharply with the "collective trusteeship" plan supported by the United States and several other countries.

In view of Argentina's silence since her delegation head, Leopoldo Melo, cautioned the conference Monday against precipitate action on "hypothetical" dangers, some delegates expressed belief her last-minute proposals might produce a controversy.

Western districts were the hottest in the state with 89 degrees reported at Oil City and 94 at Franklin. It was 93 at Pittsburgh. In Philadelphia the mercury stood at 84, it was 92 in Lancaster, 88 in Reading, 87 in York, 89 in Harrisburg and 86 in Scranton and Wilkes-Barre.

The state crop reporting service said the past week's weather was "generally excellent for grain and hay harvesting" but the central and lower Susquehanna valley needed rain. It added that good wheat crops were expected in northern districts, "about average" in the southeast and found that corn "did well"; potatoes had a "rather hard" week; tobacco is "late and uneven but fair"; truck crops have shown improvement but need rain; tomatoes are "gaining but still late".

Keith Whitton was born in Warren, February 7, 1931. He had resided with his foster parents since he was one year old.

Besides the foster parents, he is survived by one foster brother, DeForest Whitton, of Warren, and one foster sister, Mrs. Lawrence Cherry, of Rousseville.

Removal was made to the Lutz Funeral Home.

Funeral services will be held from the home of his foster parents, 2015 Pennsylvania avenue, east, Saturday afternoon at two o'clock. The Rev. Paul R. Splitstone will officiate and interment will be in Pine Grove cemetery.

Technologists figure that 2400 bombing planes consume about 288,000 gallons of gasoline per hour, and that 1600 pursuit planes consume 160,000 gallons per hour.

Between June 30, 1939, and June 30, 1940, there have been approximately 9810 new pilots turned out, ready for immediate action.

Farmers and inhabitants of rural villages have been the first to feel the pinch, rather than residents of big cities and towns.

In Alsace, hand-picked groups of farmers, taken back to their homes by the Germans, still are being fed and supplied by the German army of occupation. In the great central northeastern section, overrun by refugees and demobilized troops, food already is at a premium.

Farmers sent back to work their land were reported in some cases to have returned to the cities within a few days.

"We cannot plow on empty stomachs," said one who came to the Swiss frontier seeking food.

Independent economic experts in Switzerland say soon may be forced to draw on her own food stocks to feed the French.

ANNUAL OUTING IS ENJOYED BY LEGIONNAIRES

Approximately 150 members of Chief Cornplanter Post, American Legion, and invited guests attended the annual stag picnic held yesterday afternoon and last evening at Oakview Park.

Highlights of the outing was a barbecued chicken dinner served at 6:30 o'clock.

Various diversions were enjoyed, including a softball game between teams captained by Ed Lowrey and El Hildum. The latter outfit staged a six-run rally in the final inning to win by a score of 15 to 7.

Willis Eby and Melvin Keller were on the mound for the winners, while Nick Andersen and Jim Swaise pitched for the losers.

The entire affair was under the direction of a committee headed by William I. Walker.

CHURCH REVIVALS

NAZARENE YOUNG PEOPLE'S CONVENTION

The young people's convention at the Church of the Nazarene got off to an excellent start, with a good attendance at both the evening services and the first morning class yesterday.

Marked interest has been shown in the messages of Rev. George Galloway, the special worker. Mrs. Galloway's special songs and music on the vibra-harp have been especially appreciated.

The services continue each evening through Sunday, at 7:30 o'clock, with special morning classes at ten o'clock. Everyone is welcome to attend either session.

Cuba is about 90 miles from Florida.

Man About Manhattan

By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—There is an Italian on 50th street whose name is Sam and who owns quite a restaurant. Sam, as so many of his countrymen were during the prohibition era, is a product of the speakeasy and made his money in purveying illegal drinks behind closed doors. When Prohibition came he got himself up openly, procured a license, began to serve steaks as well as Scotch stew, and has prospered. Now Sam has a brother-in-law who had no job. He managed to gain employment for his brother-in-law as a doorman at one of New York's highest priced restaurants. His tips there averaged $20 a day. No kidding. Tipping is an unexplored avenue of revenue in this town. With his earnings this fellow opened a restaurant of his own. He is doing well.

THERE is a waiter in the famous Twenty-One club who is said to own a yacht. He is known to many of his friends and clients as "Witchell" because he is always in the "know." This waiter, it is alleged, and I believe it, practically paid for his yacht with the tips that he has received from spenders and celebrities whom he has served through the years.

Some time ago I was told of a head-waiter who paid $5,000 for his job. He earns no salary. But the tips he receives run into an enviable annual figure.

Much has been recently and wisely written against the evils of tipping but in New York at least, it is so firmly entrenched as a custom that it can never be abolished. It is an unhealthy and sometimes a most annoying custom. Unless the size of one's grat-

Williamsport, July 25.—(AP)—Drenching rain, lightning and high winds failed to halt the youngsters trying for a marathon bicycle record. They wheeled along today well past the 300-hour mark despite the wind which uprooted a tree in their path and blew down their headquarters tent.

It is reported that during 1939 U. S. automobile owners had to have emergency road service 30,940,000 times. This is an increase of 13 per cent over such calls during 1938.

ANNUAL OUTING IS ENJOYED BY LEGIONNAIRES

Approximately 150 members of Chief Cornplanter Post, American Legion, and invited guests attended the annual stag picnic held yesterday afternoon and last evening at Oakview Park.

Highlights of the outing was a barbecued chicken dinner served at 6:30 o'clock.

Various diversions were enjoyed, including a softball game between teams captained by Ed Lowrey and El Hildum. The latter outfit staged a six-run rally in the final inning to win by a score of 15 to 12.

Willis Eby and Melvin Keller were on the mound for the winners, while Nick Andersen and Jim Sealise pitched for the losers.

The entire affair was under the direction of a committee headed by William I. Walker.

CHURCH REVIVALS

NAZARENE YOUNG PEOPLE'S CONVENTION

The young people's convention at the Church of the Nazarene got off to an excellent start, with a good attendance at both the evening services and the first morning class yesterday.

Marked interest has been shown in the messages of Rev. George Galloway, the special worker. Mrs. Galloway's special songs and music on the vibra-harp have been especially appreciated.

The services continue each evening through Sunday, at 7:30 o'clock, with special morning classes at ten o'clock. Everyone is welcome to attend either session.

Cuba is about 90 miles from Florida.

Man About Manhattan

By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—There is an Italian on 50th street whose name is Sam and who owns quite a restaurant. Sam, as so many of his countrymen were during the prohibition era, is a product of the speakeasy and made his money in purveying illegal drinks behind closed doors. When repeal came he set himself up openly, procured a license, began to serve steaks as well as Scotch stew, and has prospered. Now Sam has a brother-in-law who had no job. He managed to gain employment for his brother-in-law as a doorman at one of New York's highest priced restaurants. His tips there averaged $20 a day. No kidding. Tipping is an unexplored avenue of revenue in this town. With his earnings this fellow opened a restaurant of his own. He is doing well.

THERE is a waiter in the famous Twenty-One club who is said to own a yacht. He is known to many of his friends and clients as "Winchell" because he is always in the "know." This waiter, it is alleged, and I believe it, practically paid for his yacht with the tips that he has received from speculators and celebrities whom he has served through the years.

Some time ago I was told of a head-waiter who paid $5,000 for his job. He earns no salary. But the tips he receives run into an enviable annual figure.

Much has been recently and wisely written against the evils of tipping but, in New York at least, it is so firmly entrenched as a custom that it can never be abolished. It is an unhealthy and sometimes a most annoying custom. Unless the size of one's gratuity measures up to the recipient's expectations one is likely to be snubbed, if not insulted. I know waiters who are good at names and at remembering faces who will not serve certain people because of their reputation as indifferent tipsters. I suppose the reason for this is that tipping is an old world custom and most of New York's waiters are either French, Italian or German.

Once a colleague and myself decided upon a little experiment. We had dinner in a restaurant in 45th street, tipping the waiter before the dinner was served. He served us all right, but there was none of the briskness and the alert attention squandered on us that would have been ours had we waited until after the dinner to do the tipping. The man's idea was to get whatever was coming to him, and to put himself out being attentive. AFTER he received a tip didn't make good sense to him.

TIPPING, as everyone knows now, is largely a matter of greasing the poke for those who own the concessions in this town. Sherman Billingsley of the Stork told me that he sold his bat-checking privileges for $20,000 a year. So, before a single customer had entered the place he was $20,000 ahead. This means that when you give the pretty little blonde a quarter for her smile and for holding your coat for you that, actually, you are giving a quarter to her boss, some well-heeled guy who at the time is probably off on his yacht somewhere. Shoeshine boys, hat check girls, cigarette girls, and others rarely are able to keep their own tips. They go to the "Boss," who in turn hires his tip-collectors at a minimum wage.
